Californians Flee Wild Brush Fire

By PETER J. DOYER
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Residents fled their expensive, rustic canyon homes — or stayed behind to try to protect them — as a wind-whipped brush fire swirled through a suburban canyon.

"I told him (my husband) to grab some booze and our tennis rackets and get out of there," said Glenda Rosen, one of hundreds who fled Monday from the blaze which destroyed six houses, damaged three other dwellings and charred up to 600 acres of trees and brush.
Early today, Los Angeles County firemen told residents that cool moist breezes had replaced the hot Santa Ana winds and that the threat to their dwellings had subsided.

Sheriff's Sgt. Jack Innes said up to 30 persons had sought temporary refuge in an evacuation center set up at Palisades High School.
The fire was nestled today in the Santa Monica Mountains just above the Pacific Ocean, some 20 miles west of downtown Los Angeles. Before dawn the fire was concentrated in a large ly unoccupied area of Topanga State Park, about two miles from the threatened residential areas.

Fire officials said it apparently was triggered by embers which blew over a mountain from an 80-acre brush fire Monday morning.
More than 700 firefighters and 130 fire engines from Los Angeles city and county and neighboring Ventura County fought the fire.

The gutted homes were located in a neighborhood called Sylvia Park in northern Topanga Canyon. Many of the evacuees came from the more heavily populated Palisades Highlands district within Los Angeles where the fire later spread Monday afternoon.
In both neighborhoods houses were worth as much as $500,000, fire officials said, and several of the residents were famous Hollywood personalities.

Actress Sissy Spacek, known for her roles in the films "Carrie" and "Three Women," was among those who decided to stay.
"We've been through this before," she said. "For years I've had all my hangers hanging in the same direction, in case of a fire in which I have to grab them in a hurry. You plan for these kinds of things."
Civil engineer David Strait vowed to protect his house.

"I think almost everyone except those with kids and horses is going to stay and fight," Strait said.
Dick Olsen, who fled from Topanga Canyon, said he was not allowed near his home.

which was in the path of the fire and seemed almost certainly lost. "I place no value on my house as long as my wife and kids get out. People aren't

Birth Rate Rises In '77

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The birth rate in America increased during the first eight months of this year compared with the rate a year ago, but scientists say the change does not necessarily indicate a trend.

Robert Heuser of the National Center for Health Statistics said there was an average of 15.3 births per 1,000 population for the first eight months of 1977 compared with 14.5 per 1,000 for the same time period in 1976.

But Heuser said the reason for the change is unknown. And, other statisticians cautioned against drawing sweeping conclusions.

Meanwhile, the latest Vital Statistics Report published by the center showed there were 3 percent more marriages during the first seven months of the year than during the same period a year ago, while divorces increased only 1 percent.

The report said there were 1.23 million marriages in the United States from January through July 1977. At the same time, the report shows there were 633,000 divorces granted through July, 2,000 more than there were for the same time period in 1976.

On the baby scene, the report showed there were 1.9 million live babies born between January and July of this year. Heuser, chief of the center's natality branch, said the unpublished figures for August are similar.

"During each of the first eight months of 1977, both the number of births and the birth rate were higher than in the corresponding months in 1976," he said. "It's hard to know what's causing it."

NITROUS OXIDE CALLED FACTOR

Third Patient Dies At Mercy

A third patient has died at Benton Harbor Mercy Hospital after receiving what was called an inadvertent administration of nitrous oxide.

Mrs. Octavia Smith, 60, of 777 Superior St., Benton Harbor, died early this morning. Two other patients died last month.

Frank W. Howard, M.D., said nitrous oxide will be listed as "a contributing factor" in the death of Mrs. Smith, along with "multiple complications" from an original illness.

Dr. Howard said he was the surgeon assigned to Mrs. Smith. He said Mrs. Smith died about 1:10 a.m. and probably no autopsy will be performed. Mrs. Smith was a surgical patient

Nov. 1.
C.T. Loftus, executive vice president of Mercy who announced the matter Saturday, said, "It was during the Smith case that we became suspicious."

Loftus said Saturday that nitrous oxide was administered in surgery instead of oxygen as intended because supply lines of the two gases were exchanged inadvertently during reassembly after repair work. The repairs, by maintenance employees, were to a plugged vacuum line in a surgical column. The column houses lines that supply oxygen and nitrous oxide for use in surgical procedures.

Loftus reported that the error may have been a contributing factor in the death Oct. 27 of Delores Crayton, 45, Benton Harbor, and on Oct. 28 of Michael Golden, 20, of Baraga, Mich.

Loftus said Delores Crayton died in the operating room after surgery, while Golden died in the operating room before surgery. Both had received gases from the column, Loftus said.

Loftus said the hospital last Friday notified Berrien County Prosecutor John Snieland, through its legal counsel, Atty. Samuel Henderson.

Andrew Novikoff, special investigator for the prosecutor's office, said today the office is aware of the matter, but there is no "on-going" investigation at this time.

Loftus said there's no "fail-safe system" to prevent a recurrence of a mixup of gas lines suspected in causing the deaths. "The problem is the terminal end of the gas lines are all interchangeable," he said. "It's a tragic thing. You try to take every precaution, but..."

A similar mixup of oxygen and nitrous oxide, an anesthetic sometimes called "laughing gas," earlier this year was blamed for the deaths of at least five people in Pennsylvania. Mrs. Smith was born March 21, 1917, in Hernando, Miss.

Nazis' Picketing Triggers Brawl

RIVER GROVE, Ill. (AP) — Three men were arrested after a brief but bloody brawl between Nazis and members of an anti-Nazi group which delayed a speech by Nazi-hunter Simon Wiesenthal.

Six uniformed Nazis were picketing Wiesenthal at Triton Community College in this Chicago suburb when a fight started with a dozen members of a group called the Black and White Defense Committee.

Each side blamed the other for starting the club-swinging brawl that lasted about three minutes.

Police said about 30 people in all were involved in the fight. Campus police helped break it up.

Charged with mob action was Frank Collin, head of the National Socialist Party of America here. Thomas Krajewski, also a Nazi, was charged with mob action and battery.

The third man arrested was identified as Tadewas Lambert, who said he was a bystander. He was charged with disorderly conduct.

Later in his speech, Wiesenthal said individual freedoms have their boundaries and that if groups like the Nazis harass other people, "they should be answered in a language they understand."

He indicated to reporters after the speech that his words did not mean he was calling for violence "but that it is an obligation of society to protect innocent people."

Wiesenthal condemned what he described as racist, hate literature printed in the United States and distributed throughout the world and said society must restrict extremists through laws.

"To print such propaganda is forbidden in every European country," Wiesenthal said. "The fact that it is allowed here made many people around the world laugh at President Carter's human rights speeches."

Senate Not For Milliken

By LARRY McDERMOTT
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Having narrowed his political choices by scrapping a bid for the U.S. Senate, Gov. William Milliken is devoting himself to office work before deciding whether to run again or call it quits. The 55-year-old, two-term Republican governor said Monday night he had decided not to seek the seat being vacated next year by retiring GOP Sen. Robert Griffin.

But Milliken said it might be January before he decides whether to seek re-election.

The Senate decision was reached Sunday after the governor spent the weekend in seclusion with his wife, Helen, at their home in Traverse City.

The announcement clears the way for Senate hopefuls in both parties who hesitated to challenge him. But at the same time, it left potential gubernatorial candidates still in the dark.

The governor's decision came two weeks after Milliken met in Washington with several Republican senators, including Senate Minority Leader Howard Baker of Tennessee.

Milliken had told reporters he would announce his intentions before Thanksgiving. Having never been afflicted with "Polio fever," the governor's announcement came as no surprise to many political observers.

"I don't feel under any great time constraint now, having reached a decision on an important aspect of the campaign for 1978," Milliken said Monday night.

The governor noted the political plans of some Republicans have been delayed while they waited for him to disclose his future.

"Given the political situation, it is the important one so far as the number of candidates are concerned," he said. "It could answer some of the questions they have raised."

Although Milliken ruled out one of his three options, he emphasized that there was no inference that he would seek reelection.

"I must tell you I honestly do not know whether I will be a candidate for governor. I am seriously considering returning to private life, but ... that decision will fall into place in a manner that I think will meet the public need," he said.

The announcement came just one week after Lt. Gov. James Damman said he would seek the Senate post rather than bid for re-election. Some Republicans had considered Damman a liability for Milliken if they ran together again, because of past

Hunters May Find Aircraft

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Authorities are pinning their hopes on finding an aircraft missing since July 4 on thousands of firearms deer hunters who will comb Michigan's woods starting today.

The plane with two persons aboard has been missing in a flight from New Haven to a resort near a village in Oscoda County.

A search Monday in Montmorency County was touched off when a piece of fiberglass was spotted. But the search later was called off when state police determined the material could not have come from an airplane.

The pilot of the missing plane, 57-year-old John Block of Warren, and his 55-year-old wife, Jean, were last seen at an airport in Charlotte about 90 minutes after they left Macomb County.

Authorities say they don't know why the Blocks landed there. They say they left without refueling because the airport was closed. They took off in poor visibility and have not been seen nor heard from since.

McCollough Enters Race

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — With three other candidates already crowding the field, state Sen. Patrick McCollough of Dearborn says he will seek the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. McCollough said Monday that Michigan's economy — particularly in the areas of unemployment and worker's compensation — would be major campaign issues. He also hinted at Gov. William Milliken, a Republican.

"Our leaders, and Gov. Milliken in particular, have become stale. Milliken's had his opportunity, and it's been bad," McCollough said at a news conference. He was elected to the Senate in 1970, and re-elected in 1974. He is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

McCollough said his campaign organization has raised about $75,000 for the primary race. It will take between $400,000 and $500,000 to wage an effective campaign, he added. Three other Democrats are actively seeking the nomination. They are former Public Service Commissioner William Ralls, state Sen. William Fitzgerald of Detroit, and Zolton Perency, a professor at Michigan State University.
No Republicans have announced yet for the position, awaiting word of Milliken's political future. Milliken is expected to announce soon whether he will seek re-election or retire from politics. The governor announced Monday he will not run for the U.S. Senate.

Judges Are Servants, Not Masters

Most Americans never have set foot in a courtroom, and until recent years at least probably did not give much thought to a court of law except as an abstract institution. Then came the tumultuous years of the 1960s and the famous court cases which followed.

The Chicago Seven, the Manson case, numerous trials of other mass murderers, the Hearst trial, the Watergate scandal and others captured the nation's attention for prolonged periods. Suddenly the courtroom wasn't an alien place anymore. Frequently it was a stage of heavy drama staffed by real people whose emotions and patience ran the gamut of human conduct.

Sometimes even the judges, goaded by rude and barbaric conduct by defendants, permitted their judicial temperaments to slip a bit. They are human, too. So it was that a San Francisco superior court judge laid out some rules, which he called his "good judge" commandments.

"Remember," said Judge Francis McCarty, "that you are a servant of the people not their master. Put a note on your bench where you can constantly see it: 'Slow to anger — rich in courtesy, consideration and understanding.'"

"Admonish (when necessary) attorneys, witnesses and jurors gently, quietly and firmly. It is far more effective than 'telling them off.'"

"Retain your sense of humor. Make everyone in your court feel comfortable and at ease."

There was more, but Judge McCarty concluded with: "Make your court a temple of justice and truth." That is good advice for any judge trying any case, no matter whether the issues before the bench are major or minor.

Open Heart Patient Says Cardiac Unit Should Stay

Editor,

I am really quite concerned about the S.W.M.H.S.A. eliminating the cardiac care at Mercy Hospital.

I recently underwent open heart surgery there, Sept. 21, 1977. Dr. Jorge Just and Dr. Frank Bunker were in charge of my case. When you really think of the talent and skills that are at Dr. Just's finger tips to be able to perform such surgery time and again without losing a life — it is overwhelming. There were several cases of which I saw the results of, which just amazed me.

There are people in Benton Harbor and St. Joseph area and surrounding cities that do not realize the equipment that is there for our care. To take all of this away from the people would be a crime. It makes you think of the way our government is managing our tax dollars today. To me it amounts to the same thing.

To make people travel to Kalamazoo or Cleveland or other far away places is out of the way our government is managing our tax dollars today. To me it amounts to the same thing.

to Kalamazoo. I had many friends call and visit while there which would otherwise hesitate to drive a great distance.

Another aspect is the training that the nurses in the 2-West wing and also the Cardiac Care Unit, have undergone, just to serve the heart patient. Believe me you will never know until you experience open heart surgery. They were always on their toes to do things for me beyond the call of duty. They would walk by my door and smile and wave, as they went on to serve another patient.

Also another incident concerns me. I have a sleep-snooze who had a heart catheterization in Kalamazoo. He had to wait several days to have the doctors tell him the results. Another case, my step-daughter-in-law had a heart catheterization in Kalamazoo and had to wait several days for the results. When I had my heart catheterization at Mercy, while I was still on the table Dr. Bunker told me: "As soon as I read the pictures a little more, I will be up to your room to talk to you." He came and told me right then and there that I would have to have a triple by-pass. Why did the doctors at Kalamazoo keep people waiting for the results when it was so readily available. The anxiety they went through was enough.

I understand that Kalamazoo has such a work load now that they have to postpone some of their surgery because they can't handle it all.

Open-heart surgery is becoming a more and more common occurrence now and in the future. I can see where they are going to need the unit at Mercy, if they are going to save more and more lives. If people in this area have to travel by ambulance or whatever to get to a heart care unit how many are going to be dead on arrival?

I hope for the sake of the people in this area they do not make such a foolish mistake as to take this heart care facility away from Mercy.

Mrs. William Fowler fulfilled a long-time dream when she rode in the Madison Square Garden Horse Show in New York City recently. She rode her Canadian-bred hunter, Pathway, in the amateur-owner division. Pathway, a four-year-old who stands 17 hands tall, won four ribbons. This past weekend he appeared in a show at Toronto in the Canadian-bred classes. Changing Rules Now Is Wrong

WASHINGTON — In the heat of any great struggle, it is always tempting to say that everything which can be done to enhance the prospects for victory should be done.

It ain't necessarily so, as the current battle over ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment rather painfully illustrates.

For those who support the ERA, and we number ourselves among them, it is virtually unthinkable that this last great American civil rights crusade should fail.

"Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex."

There it is, in its entirety — the sentence which has precipitated one of the most baffling and bitter political conflicts of this century.

Congress approved the ERA in 1972, and 35 states have, by act of their legislatures, ratified it in the years since. But three more are needed by March 1979 if the amendment is to become part of the Constitution.

And ERA has fallen upon hard times. It has become the prime target of millions of Americans, both male and female, who view it as a symbol of unsettling and frightening change in the social status quo.

With ferocious and emotional lobbying, opponents of the ERA have stopped the ratification drive in its tracks. Supporters of the amendment are understandably frustrated and fearful that the dream of 50 years may turn into a nightmare.

That is why Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., others in the congressional women's caucus and the leadership of the National Organization of Women (NOW) are asking Congress to extend the deadline for ratification for another seven years.

The Carter administration supports the extension. The Justice Department, and a bevy of other distinguished constitutional lawyers, say Congress has the right to do it. There are those who disagree, of course, but in all probability the Justice Department is correct. It can be done.

But should it be done? That is another matter indeed, a question which has become a source of growing anguish to many in the woman's movement. The only fair answer has to be "no."

Every constitutional amendment adopted in the last 50 years, starting with the infamous Prohibition Amendment of 1917, carried with it a seven-year deadline for ratification by the states.

Prior to 1917, Congress had set no deadlines for ratification of amendments. Yet the longest period that ever elapsed between the proposal of a constitutional amendment by Congress and ultimate ratification by three-fourths of the states was 3 years and 11 months — for the 22nd Amendment, guaranteeing citizens of the District of Columbia the right to vote in presidential elections.

Opponents of ERA, led by the ever-voluble Phyllis Schlafly of Illinois, are appalled over the attempt to persuade Congress to extend the ratification deadline.

With considerable justification, they charge that such a step would amount to changing the rules of the game in mid-play.

Rep. Holtzman and her allies sincerely believe the extension on legislation offers the last best hope of saving the ERA. Perhaps they are right, given the current political climate in the states which have not yet ratified the amendment.

Yet, it doesn't seem fair. There is still a chance to win ratification in the necessary three additional states before the March 1979 deadline originally set by Congress. It won't be easy, but it is not impossible, when Congress first passed the ERA, and those rules said ratification must come within seven years. Even for the best of causes, changing those rules now would be wrong.

Child Molesters Demand Rights

I suppose it might have been foreseen, but it still comes as something of a shock, even in the later years of the sexually liberated 20th century. In Great Britain, the child molesters are coming out of the closet and demanding their rights.

I kid you not. And this development raises some interesting and highly serious questions.

An English organization called the Paedophile Information Exchange (PIE) has carried the sexual revolution at least one giant step past homosexual rights.

According to the London Daily Telegraph, PIE is demanding the legal and social acceptance of sex with children. PIE spokesmen cite "the need (1) in Britain for a group of these men and women who are sexually attracted to young people of 17 and below."

PIE is demanding, for starters, that the legal age of consent be lowered, though lowered how far remains unclear. Presumably there are "right" and "left" factions among the pedophiles, who differ over the minimum permissible age.

The "regular" homosexual establishment in England and its various organizations are avoiding the pedophiles like the plague, and refusing to appear with them or cooperate with them in any way.

Now that raises an interesting point. While one can see the tactical rationale for such ostracism — it is politically prudent — the intellectual rationale for it remains elusive.

On just what grounds can a homosexual militant condemn a militant pedophile? Or, for that matter, any "sexual preference" whatsoever with the possible exception of rape.

Historically speaking, there have existed, since the end of the Middle Ages, two generally acceptable erotic traditions in the West.

The first is monogamous, confines sex to marriage, and views marriage as the suitable circumstance for the raising of children.

But there is an important and influential erotic tradition that emerged in Provence in the south of France during the 12th century, had an enormous impact upon Western culture, and, indeed, continues to do so. In this tradition, the love is intense and romantic and almost always extra-nuptial. Chivalric love was practically always adulterous, and with suitable modifications this tradition has persisted through the present.

Perhaps we could call these the "official" and the "unofficial" Western erotic traditions. The unofficial one has always enjoyed substantial social acceptance.

The rhetoric of homosexual liberationists really seems to deny the possibility of any "model" of normal sexual relations. They speak of "sexual preference" and "alternative lifestyles" — but do not explain why this should not include the pedophiles from PIE, as well as neoprophits and encephalitis.

Why not a "sexual preference" for animals? Finally, it is difficult to envision a society which altogether lacks any model of the normal. In fact, no such society has ever existed. But that is what the "regular" homosexuals, seem to be demanding.

Whirlpool Names Chief Of Personnel

Charles D. Putnam, 49, has been named to Whirlpool Corporation's top personnel position, effective yesterday, according to Herbert K. Anspach, president and chief operating officer.

As general manager, personnel, Putnam replaces Robert W. Jolly who resigned to pursue other business interests. In his new position, Putnam will be responsible for directing corporate-wide level staff activities for the industrial relations and personnel functions of the company.

Putnam, who was director, corporate labor relations since November 1, 1967, originally joined Whirlpool in 1963 as a patent attorney. In 1965 he was named senior patent attorney, and assistant patent counsel in 1967.

Prior to joining Whirlpool, Putnam was corporate and patent attorney for the Clark Controlling Company, Cleveland.

BH Choirs Will Sing

Benton Harbor High School choirs will present their first concert of the year Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center at the high school.

Participating in the annual fall concert will be the Tiger Chorus, Concert Choir, Octavia Choir and the Madrigals under the direction of Leslie Rowsie, director of vocal music at BHHS.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the choirs or will be available at the door. Admission is $1.50. Golden Age card holders are admitted free.

Butgereit Scholarship Fund Reaches $1,330

Contributions to the Les Butgereit Athletic Scholarship total $1,330, according to Ken Overly, assistant principal at Benton Harbor High School. The scholarship fund was started at BHHS a few days after Butgereit died Oct. 4 when he sustained a heart attack while driving. He had been a physical education teacher since 1955, football coach 1960-71, and had coached golf 20 years. Overly said contributions to the fund will be placed in a savings account and the interest used for an annual college scholarship for a male or female athlete. Donations to the fund may be sent to the high school in care of Overly or Athletic Director Herb Quade. A benefit basketball program for the fund will be presented at BHHS Nov. 21 when the Tiger varsity has an inter-squad scrimmage and Lake Michigan College plays Davenport College, of Grand Rapids.

Mayor Of BH Can't Sell Beer

The Michigan Liquor Control Commission has ruled Joel Patterson can't be mayor of Benton Harbor and sell beer and wine at his grocery store at the same time.

The MLCC Monday voted not to renew Patterson's license to sell beer and wine at the grocery store he owns. The MLCC held that a section of the state liquor control act that prohibits licenses to "law enforcement officials" applies to Patterson. The Benton Harbor City Charter grants police powers to the mayor in emergency situations. Patterson announced the MLCC's action at the city commission meeting last night and said he was undecided on what action he will take, but is "exploring some alternatives."

Patterson Protests Lifting Of License

He declined to reveal what those alternatives are.

Stanley G. Thayer, chairman of the MLCC, told The Herald-Palladium this morning the decision can be appealed to the liquor control commission itself. Thayer said the liquor control commission held up approval of renewal of Patterson's license until it received an attorney general's opinion on the question. The ruling also affects mayors of Wyand and Southfield, he said.

Patterson said the loss of the license means a 10 per cent cut in his income. He owns the Village Variety grocery store at 268 E. Empire Ave. which holds a SDM (Special Designated Merchant) license to sell beer and wine.

Patterson said he was notified by the MLCC staff Thursday to stop selling beer and wine at his store and said he has traveled several times to Lansing since then to contest the ruling. "I'm still in somewhat of a spin," he said last night.

At issue in the MLCC's ruling is Section 18 of the state liquor control act which prohibits licenses for "law enforcement officials" and a section of the Benton Harbor City Charter which gives the mayor "law enforcement powers."

The issue over Patterson's license began in September, 1976, shortly after Patterson was elected mayor. The MLCC began its inquiry of Patterson's license after the issue was raised by members of the community.

The MLCC sought an opinion from Michigan Atty. General Frank Kelley and in a letter dated Aug. 11, 1977, Kelley issued an opinion that mayors of cities are prohibited from being issued liquor licenses if the mayors have police powers.

Section 18 of the liquor control act says "No person who holds or whose spouse holds, either by appointment or election, any public office which involves the duty to enforce any of the penal laws of the state or any penal ordinance or resolution of any municipal subdivision of the state... shall be issued any such license, nor shall such a person have any interest, directly or indirectly in any such license."

Benton Harbor's mayor is given "law enforcement powers" under Section 3.9 of the city charter. "In times of public danger or emergency, he (the mayor) may, with the consent of the commission, take command of the police and such other departments and subordinates of the city as may be deemed necessary by the commission and maintain order and enforce laws."

In discussing the issue last night, commissioners also asked if the ruling would apply to Commissioner Michael Govatos, who has a liquor license at the restaurant he owns. Govatos said he investigated the question before and found that the ruling does not apply to commissioners because they are not given direct law enforcement powers. Govatos and his wife own the Fifth Wheel Cafe at 451 W. Main St.

MLCC finds conflict

BH Opposes Moving Heart Unit

The Benton Harbor City Commission Monday night adopted a resolution opposing the transfer of the open heart surgery unit at Mercy Hospital to Borgess Hospital in Kalamazoo.

The resolution asks the Southwest Michigan Health Systems Agency, which reviews health planning in southwestern Michigan, to reject a recommendation by an agency subcommittee that the Mercy heart unit be transferred to Kalamazoo.

The commission also voted last night to approve a new "self-insurance" plan that would replace the current Blue Cross-Blue Shield health insurance coverage for the city's approximately 300 full-time employees with a program that would involve the city establishing a trust fund to pay employees' claims.

City Manager Melvin Farmer Jr. said when the new insurance program takes effect Jan. 1, Benton Harbor will be one of the first municipalities in Michigan to offer the self-funded health insurance program.

The resolution to oppose the transfer of the Mercy heart unit was proposed by Commissioner

Norval Weiss, fund service director at Mercy, who said the recommendation was "arbitrary and capricious" and said the transfer would mean the "difference between assembly line surgery and personal care."

The heart unit transfer is among a number of goals recommended by the Health Services subcommittee of the Southwest Michigan Health Systems Agency. The regional agency is scheduled to hold a public hearing on the recommendation Nov. 21 at the Berrien Board of Commissioners room at the county courthouse.

The commission unanimously adopted the resolution and asked that copies be forwarded to the Southwest Michigan Health Systems Agency, area state legislators and the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Weiss said the transfer would present a hardship to area heart patients who would have to travel to Kalamazoo for care and would "seriously damage" the entire cardiovascular program at Mercy.

Under the new self-insurance program approved by the commission last night, employees will be offered the same benefits as they currently are offered under the Blue Cross-Blue Shield program, Farmer said.

Farmer said the average $222,000 the city now pays in annual premiums to Blue Cross-Blue Shield will go into a trust fund established in a local bank to pay employees' claims.

The city began seeking new methods of providing health inurance, Farmer said, after Blue Cross-Blue Shield notified the city insurance would increase by about 50 per cent.

City Will Start Own Health Insurance Plan

The benefit to the new self-funded insurance program, according to Farmer, is that the city will have better control over insurance costs and will be providing an incentive to city employees to keep down claims so that the money can be used for other employee benefits.

The proposal for the new insurance program also calls for the hiring of a Kalamazoo firm, Pension and Group Services Inc., to handle administration of the program. Farmer said the company has agreed to provide the service for an annual fee of approximately $18,500.

Vertis McManus Jr., insurance consultant for Vertis McManus Ltd., Benton Harbor, acted as a "finder" in putting together the program, Farmer said.

Under the insurance proposal, the city would also retain the high-risk insurance firm, Lloyd's of London, to pick up any insurance claims over a certain amount in a set-up that would be similar to deductible car insurance, Farmer said last night.

In other action, the commission voted to approve a request by the Twin Cities Airport Board for easement rights over turned a request from Samuel Monte, Tailored Building Systems, to replace a storage building on property he leases in Riverside, over to the township zoning appeals board. Monte told the board he wants to put up a pole-type building for use as storage for his building business. According to Bishop, under the new township zoning ordinance, a variance would be required to construct the building.

The property is leased by Monte from the Chessie Systems Railroad.

Two petitions from property owners were received by the board. One sought to reduce the speed limit on Caloma Road between I-196 interchange and Fikes Road from 50 to 40 miles per hour. The petition, with about 25 names on it, according to Bishop, will be turned over to the Berrien County Road Commission.

The other petition requested grading, graveling and sealing about two-thirds of a mile of Randy Road east of Fikes Road. That petition was turned over to the township road committee to set a public hearing.

Bishop said more than $2,000 in delinquent ambulance bills from the years 1973 and 1976 were turned over to the Merchants Credit Bureau, St. Joseph, for collection.

ROTARY HONORS CLARK: William A. Vawter II (left), member of Twin City Rotary Club since 1918, Monday presented medal to Glenn D. Clark, who has been named a Paul Harris Fellow. Clark is a past president of local club and former district governor. Paul Harris Fellowship, named for founder of Rotary, is for educational purposes. Club has raised $1,000 to honor Clark as a Paul Harris Fellow. Money will go to Rotary International for scholarships, group study exchange and special grants. Clark joined Rotary in Allegan in 1940. He was president of Allegan club in 1942 and joined Twin City Rotary Club in 1943. He was local club president in 1947 and district governor in 1963-64. Clark of St. Joseph, is retired Whirlpool Corp. executive. As Paul Harris Fellow, Clark received certificate and lapel pin, in addition to medal. (Staff photo)

Sophomores Aiding The Poor

Benton Harbor High School sophomores are collecting food for distribution to needy people over the Thanksgiving weekend. Bruce Schadler, administrative assistant at BHHS, said sophomores are seeking canned goods and other non-perishable items which may be left at the Empire Avenue entrance to the school during three periods each day. Schadler said the collection station will be attended at 8 a.m., 1:05 and 2:40 p.m. for an hour each time through Friday this week and through Wednesday next week. Food will be turned over to the Berrien Department of Social Services which will distribute it to those most in need. Schadler said, Charles Sanders and Laura Richburg are faculty advisers to the sophomore class.

Royalton To Get Second Precinct

The Royalton Township Board Monday night authorized the township clerk to begin a process to set up a second voting precinct in the township. Clerk Otto Jasper said the township now has 1,750 registered voters. He said state law requires division into two precincts when there are more than 1,400 registered voters. He said that present plans call for a division of the township along the same boundaries as are established for the Berrien County Board of Commissioners districts. The northern part of the township is in district seven, the southern part in district five, he said.

In other action, the board reappointed Gerald Stackman as deputy treasurer for one year. The position is not salaried, Jasper said. The board authorized the township planning commission to set a date for a public hearing on a proposed flood ordinance. The ordinance would allow township residents to apply for federally subsidized flood insurance through private insurance agents.

Two Finish Mother's Book

'Shingle Diggin's' Story

By CLIFF STEVENS
Coloma Correspondent
COLOMA — A book titled, "Trails from Shingle Diggin's," containing local history emphasizing the north Berrien County area is now available at book stores in the twin cities area as well as in Coloma and Watervliet.

The author of the book, the late Mabel Branch Stark, a longtime resident of the Coloma-Watervliet area and for many years a news reporter, reveals the history of Coloma, Watervliet, Paw Paw Lake and Bainbridge and Hagar Townships.

Mrs. Stark first started the groundwork for the 280-plus page book in the 1920s by interviewing then community elders and learned of their memorabilia.

Although the first manuscript of the book was unveiled during the 90th birthday of Mrs. Stark on Aug. 26, 1975, her illness and death in June, 1976, followed by other delays, prevented the book from being published until this past summer.

Completing the book for their mother were Mrs. Dorothy Stark Cannell of Magellan Lake and Miss Allene M. Stark of Coloma. Mrs. Starks' two daughters.

The book contains chapters devoted to "firsts" in the area — logging and lumbering; rivers, roads and other transportation; the Shingle Diggin's; Watervliet; Dickerville to Coloma; the Bainbridge story; Hagar Township and Paw Paw Lakes.

Included in the book as additions by her daughters, are some of their own recollections, together with appropriate material from other local historians, many old-time photographs of the north Berrien County communities and recent ink drawings by students of the Coloma school system depicting areas mentioned in the various chapters.

The Shingle Diggin's was the name of the original settlement in the Coloma-Watervliet area and is claimed for different reasons by both communities.

In the book, readers will learn how Paw Paw Lake was named and how the old town names of Dickerville, Eberfield and Watervliet figured in making the history of the two towns.

Also in the book, Paw Paw River is credited with bringing the earliest settlers into the wilderness area known as Hagar as they ventured out from St. Joseph.

In addition to the contributions of the author, Mrs. Stark, the book contains pictures and information from other local historians and residents. Some of the material was printed in a pamphlet last available during Coloma's Centennial celebration in 1937.

While serving as a new reporter from the Coloma-Watervliet area, including several years as a correspondent for 'The Herald-Palladium,' Mrs. Stark worked with the area's chamber of commerce in developing a history of the area which was used in promoting the local resort business in Chicago.

Over the years, Mrs. Stark enjoyed listening to the tales of the oldsters in both her own family and from other residents and studied old records and books already written about the area.

Mrs. Stark firmly believed in the goal of the North Berrien County Historical Society in preserving the area's heritage and spent many long years in collecting and organizing the material for inclusion in her book.

In the book's preface, Mrs. Stark wrote, "It is surprising to find that suddenly, after 40 years of researching the past and interviewing 'old-timers,' you yourself have become an 'old-timer' in the eyes of the next generation."

Mrs. Stark's daughters' comments conclude the book in which they note the book their mother had worked on for years was finished, but additionally noted their mother realized the area would continue to change and grow and even though her book is completed, it's up to others to carry on the work.

The book is dedicated to "past pioneers who built for the future and to present pioneers who are building for the future and to future pioneers who will continue to build."

More Difficult When Dieting

As calorie intake is reduced, it becomes increasingly difficult to get all the nutrients you need unless you choose foods wisely. Even on a 1,500 calorie diet, studies have shown a number of essential nutrients such as vitamin A, thiamin, riboflavin, niacin and iron are apt to be lacking.

Care should be taken to include a wide variety of all the foods we normally need for a nutritionally sound, well-balanced diet.

Complain Now

NEW YORK (AP) — If a customer has a complaint about a meal or service in a restaurant, it should be voiced on the spot, according to an American Express survey of eating establishments.

The owners and their employees said they respected customers who let their criticisms be known more than the ones who leave unhappy, vowing never to return. But most people fall into the latter category, the survey showed, making it difficult to correct errors and improve customer relations.

Many of the owners and managers who responded to the questionnaire said they felt customers should be respectful and tolerant of a restaurant's problems, but they should not allow themselves to be intimidated.

Other customer traits restaurateurs admired included loyalty, requesting separate checks before ordering, controlling children and drinking with moderation.

MORE INFORMAL

At-home eating is becoming more informal with 75 per cent of all meals eaten in the kitchen. There also is a trend to fewer items per meal and greater use of convenience foods.

Like Father, Like Daughter

NEW YORK (AP) — A survey of young people between the ages of 14 and 25 found that "women whose fathers were college graduates or had some college education were more likely to choose an executive-professional life as their ambition than men whose fathers had similar educational background."

The study by the American Council of Life Insurance also found that "among women whose fathers had a high school education or less, only 30 percent preferred the executive life style."

It said that among the young men surveyed, those who had fathers with a college background, "were no more likely to be attracted to the executive-professional style than those whose fathers had less schooling."

BEEF PRICES STABLE

Buy In Quantity Now

How does your freezer beef supply look?

If you have been considering a quantity beef purchase, now is an excellent time to make that purchase, according to Retha Hankey, director of food service and home economics for the Michigan Beef Industry Commission.

Hankey says, "Beef is in good supply and prices are especially attractive. That may change late in 1977 or early in 1978 as prices are expected to increase due to changes in the cattle cycle.

Buying beef in quantity means planning ahead and shopping around. That is your assurance of getting a good buy. Hankey indicates that you should consider several factors before making a quantity beef purchase.

— Look at your family size and determine how much beef they will consume over the next six to 12 months (the ideal storage time for beef).

— What cuts of beef does your family most enjoy? Do they prefer just steaks and beef burgers or do they enjoy pot roasts, round steak and a variety of the less tender cuts.

— Look for a reputable dealer in your local area.

If you decide to purchase a quantity of freezer beef, begin to shop your local area. Contact beef processors for price information. Two items you should consider when pricing are the quality grade and yield grade of the carcass. These grades will help you determine the amount of beef and the quality you actually receive. Keep in mind that you generally buy a side or quarter by the price-pound of carcass weight. Consumers should expect about a 20 to 30 percent weight loss due to fat, bone and other waste material. That means your actual cost per pound of retail cut will increase from the price-pound at carcass weight.

When you order your beef, be sure your butcher knows how you want your order. You should supply such information as thickness of steaks and roasts, desired approximate fat content of ground beef, size packages desired, ground beef in patties or bulk, bone-in or boneless roasts, and if you wish to have the variety meats such as liver or heart.

Michigan law stipulates that a meat processor must provide you, the consumer, a delivery statement indicating total weight of carcass purchased, type of animal and carcass section, estimated cost-pound of final weight and cutting loss including the charge for packaging and freezing.

Be sure you receive this written statement, as it serves as your guarantee of what you purchased.

Answers to all the questions you have about buying freezer beef, determining quality and yield grades, wrapping for storage and defrosting are provided in an illustrated folder "Getting the most from Your Freezer Beef Buys."

To obtain this leaflet, write to the Michigan Beef Industry Commission, 805 Stoddard Building, Lansing, 48933.

BERRIEN CENTER — Michiana Medical Record Association will meet Wednesday, Nov. 16, at 7 p.m. at Berrien General Hospital, Berrien Center.

Dr. Robert Wesche will speak on the topic of tuberculosis and a business meeting will follow. The meeting is open to interested medical personnel.

Players Play Comedy

BEGINS THURSDAY: Twin City Players' production, "The Good Doctor," which consists of 11 vignettes written by Neil Simon, will open Thursday, Nov. 17, and continue through Sunday, Nov. 20, and Friday through Sunday, Nov. 25-27. The comedy will be presented at the Unitarian church, St. Joseph. Participating in the production will be from left, Carol Oudbier as the governess and Marion Tiffany as the woman of the house in the skit, "The Governess."

Pictured at right are Robert Vandenberg, who will play roles in several skits, who is being assisted with his costume by June Eaton, costume designer and co-production manager with Fred Eaton. Lee Maickel will direct the play which is taken from the short story collection of Anton Chekhov. Curtain time is 8 p.m. except for Sunday matinees which begin at 2 p.m. (Staff photos)

Sing-A-Lings Will Carol For Goodfellow Fund

Goodfellows will profit from Christmas carols this year as the YWCA Sing-a-Lings, women's barbershop harmony singers, offer their talents in support of this holiday effort.

The singers will come to area homes and sing at the rate of three carols for $5, all proceeds to be donations to the Goodfellows Christmas fund.

Prospective customers may have a choice of nights. The chorus is available Friday, Dec. 16, the Blue Notes quartet on Dec. 15 and the Other Four quartet on Dec. 14, after 6:30 p.m.

Christmas barbershop carols may be ordered by contacting Carol Lambert at the YWCA giving the date desired, how many songs wanted, the address and directions to the home and telephone number. The date and time will be confirmed when the itineraries are organized, Mrs. Lambert says.

"Since nobody ever did this before, we really don't know how it will turn out," she says. "We may have more orders than we can handle and in that case it will have to be on a first come-first served basis. We will try our best to honor all requests."

All orders in by Dec. 12 will be organized into routes and confirmed. Orders coming in after that date will be worked in if possible.

Sing-a-Lings chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Edna Heil, meets each Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the YWCA, St. Joseph. Visitors are welcome and chorus and quartets are available for sing-outs throughout the year.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Keep The Mutt, Readers Said

Dear Ann: Your answer to the woman whose college-age son gave the dog beer was not very clear. I felt awful when I thought of that poor little creature getting drunk every night and bumping into the furniture.

You told the mother to find another home for the mutt. Which mutt did you mean? I think I know. — Annapolis, Neb.

Dear Ann: I meant the dog but you wouldn't believe the number of readers who gave me a good what-for because of that answer. At least 2,500 irate readers told me I should have suggested she keep the mutt and find another home for her sin.

Time To Speak

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I went to visit his sister and her family two weeks ago. I have been trying to think of how to word this letter ever since we came home. If you can provide an answer and will print it, I'll send it to our hostess. There is no way I can say this to her face.

My sister-in-law has five adorable children. They are bright, well-mannered and affectionate. The problem: they all have terrible teeth and nobody seems to be doing a thing about it. The boys, 11 and 13, have broken their teeth in accidents — skateboard and sledding. Two girls have wide spaces between their two front teeth which ruins their smiles. The youngest has badly discolored teeth due to a medication she had to take when she was very ill.

All the children have cavities, some filled, some not. None of the children brush their teeth before going to bed at night. (I was appalled when one of the boys went to sleep with a stick of licorice in his mouth.)

What can I do to help my sister-in-law see what her negligence is doing to her kids? My husband says you'll tell me to MYOB, but I think he is wrong. — A Loving Aunt

Dear Aunt: You win. There are times when one should speak up and this is one of those times. Your nieces and nephews will bless you in years to come.

Broken teeth can be made to look nearly perfect with a new plastic material. (The teeth do not need to be capped.)

Rather than give you a few facts, I'm going to recommend a splendid book "Your Child's Teeth," by a dentist — Dr. Stephen J. Moss. (Publishers: Houghton Mifflin Co.) Dr. Moss covers every aspect of teeth — starting with the pregnant woman even before the baby is born — and takes you through every dental problem imaginable. He explodes myths and tells you how to see that your children develop good dental habits. It's well worth $8.95.

Read, Already

Dear Ann: My in-laws are lovely people. I hate to be cri-ty, but every Sunday we have supper at their home. Immediately following the meal they rush to the TV. The programs they watch do not interest me. During the commercials there are a few feeble attempts at conversation. Lately I've been bringing a book.

Last night my mother-in-law said, "Why can't you enjoy TV with the rest of us? When you read it's as if you're not even here."

Tell me, Ann, am I being rude as my mother-in-law implied? — Lorraine, Ohio

Dear Lorraine: No. If you prefer your book to the TV you should be permitted to read with an comment from the vidual section.

Even if drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers's booklet, "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I would like your advice. I am 5 feet 3 and weigh 126 pounds. That sounds fine, but I gained eight pounds in four months which all went on my thighs and buttocks.

The weight gain occurred because I stopped smoking 10 months ago. I had smoked 33 years, and am quite proud of myself as I stopped completely in one day and haven't had the desire since but I want to cut constantly.

A month ago, I started walking a mile a day and put myself on a diet, not a crash diet, but a sensible one of 1200 calories. In a month's time, I put on a couple more pounds. A few days ago, I found out why. I thought that if a half grapefruit was good for you, grapefruit juice (unsweetened) would be even better, so everytime I thought about food, I would drink a big glass of orange or grapefruit juice.

I never dawned on me to look up the calories in the orange and grapefruit juices. I'm afraid if I don't get this weight off now, I will continue putting more and more on, so I need your help.

DEAR READER—As you already know, an eight-ounce glass of orange juice or grapefruit juice is about 90 calories. Assuming you drank six glasses a day, and you may have drunk more, that would be 540 calories a day. In a month, that would be about 16,200 calories—or, the number of calories found in four and-a-half pounds of body fat. So, if you only gained two pounds a month, you may have been doing well.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Lossing Diet, that you can use as a guide in your weight control program. Walk every day as that is a big help, and the more you can increase your walking, the better you will do. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Many people do have an urge to eat more when they stop smoking. My best tip is to drink a glass of water whenever you feel the urge, or go for a walk. The biggest reason why people gain weight after stopping smoking is from substituting eating for smoking. And then the body thrives and uses food better because it is healthier after you quit poisoning your cells with nicotine.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I had a liver biopsy, and the doctor said I have a fatty liver. He didn't give me any medication or tell me what to do to help the condition.

I have often read that a fatty liver precedes cirrhosis of the liver. Is there anything I can do about it? I am not a drinking woman. I'm 72, and weigh 145. I have had my gall bladder removed 20 years ago, and had jaundice 40 years ago.

DEAR READER—Your doctor didn't recommend anything because he probably thought you were doing fine. Fatty deposits in the liver may occur from previous liver damage or from excessive alcohol consumption, or even from eating too much fat and no carbohydrates, or in severe diabetes. There are many causes for it.

Yes, it can precede cirrhosis of the liver. But that is not always the case, either. You are wise not to use alcohol. The only other recommendation I would make would be to be sure that you get plenty of lean red meat in your diet, and your daily quota of B vitamins. Otherwise, I would not be overly concerned about it.

Science Day At Hope

HOLLAND — Students from five area high schools will be among those participating in a science day for high school students Friday, Nov. 18, at Hope College.

Area students participating will be from Bridgman, Lawrence, Michigan Lutheran, Watervliet and Fennville High Schools.

A total of 43 high schools will participate.

The day is being sponsored by the Hope College Sigma Xi Science Research Society and the departments of biology, chemistry, computer science, geology, mathematics, physics and psychology.

Advance registration indicates approximately 500 students and 65 teachers will attend.

The program will include presentations and demonstrations on a variety of topics. The titles of some of the presentations are, "Biofeedback: Listening to Your Body," "Earthquake Prediction and Control," "Lasers, Light and Life: How to Tickle Molecules," "Gambling, Expected Loss and Expected Number of Plays to Lose $100," "Microcomputers," "How Can the Computer Help in Solving Today's Business Problems," "Pesticides and Environment."

Professor Richard Brockmeier is serving as the general chairman. Committee members include Professors Rena Dunem, Donald Friedrich, Harry Frissel, James Gentile, James Motif, Elliot Tanis and Sheldon Wettack.

Band Spectacular

KALAMAZOO — Three southwestern Michigan students will be among nearly 300 student musicians participating in the Band Spectacular Friday, Nov. 18, at 8 p.m. in Miller Auditorium, Kalamazoo.

The program, sponsored by the music department of Western Michigan University, will include two symphonic bands, the Jazz Lab Band and the Brown Marching Band.

Area students participating include Cindy Albrecht of Stevensville, Gary Sexton of Hartford and Brian Smith of St. Joseph.

Tickets are $2. Proceeds will be used to support music scholarships at Western Michigan University.

Club Elects New Officers

BUCHANAN — Mrs. Lena Schantz has been elected president of Red Bud Senior Citizens Club.

Other officers include, Mrs. Gertrude Sheldon, vice president; Mrs. Berdella Peters, secretary and treasurer, and Mrs. Clara Lake, card chairman.

Members of the club will be entertained at a Christmas party, hosted by the Buchanan Business and Professional Women's Club, Monday, Dec. 5, at 6:30 p.m. at Moccasin School.

SMC Yule Workshop

DOWAGIAC — A two-hour introduction to workshops dealing with handmade Christmas gifts and decorations will be held in the Continuing Education Building at Southwestern Michigan College, Wednesday, Nov. 16, from 1 to 3 p.m.

Area residents are invited to browse through the many sample ideas for personalizing Christmas available at the introductory session, then select the workshop or workshops of their choice to attend in the coming weeks.

Craftshops will include "Sewing Machine Embroidery," Monday, Nov. 21; "Quilling Christmas Gifts," Monday, Nov. 28; "Silk Flowers," Wednesday, Nov. 30; "Christmas Decorations," Monday, Dec. 5; "Crocheted Ornaments," Wednesday, Dec. 7, and "Christmas Cookie Exchange," Monday, Dec. 12.

The craftshops are open free of charge and will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. on all of the dates scheduled.

Persons interested in attending one or more craftshop are asked to make a reservation by calling SMC.

Lists of needed supplies for each craftshop will be available at the introductory session.

Bazaar Saturday

ALSO LUNCHEON: Ye Olde Craft Shoppe will be held Saturday, Nov. 19, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church, Lowe Street, Dowagiac. Co-chairmen for the event are Mrs. Leon (Doris) Anderson, left, and Mrs. Evan (Kathy) Springsteen. Various items for sale will include wood, crafts, wreaths, toys, ceramics, knitted and crocheted items, baked goods and Christmas ornaments. Several demonstrations will be served in the morning and lunch will be served beginning at 11 a.m., featuring chicken and biscuits. (Eva Bower photo)

Book Week

National Children's Book Week is being observed at the Benton Harbor Public Library. The week began Nov. 14 and continues through Nov. 20.

The Children's Room is observing the week with a "story give-away" Wednesday, Nov. 16, through Saturday, Nov. 19. Children may come to the library to pick out a short story to keep, taken from children's magazines. There will also be a new book display, book week bookmarks will be given away and a five cent book sale on old books for junior high readers will be held.

The fall session of the preschool story hour will conclude Wednesday, Nov. 16. The session at 10 a.m., will include the film, "Petunia," stories and a treat.

The winter session will begin Wednesday, Jan. 4.

Free films to be shown for children at 4 p.m., Friday, Nov. 18, include, "Very Special Day," a story of friendship; "Merry-Go-Round Horse," a little child becomes attached to a merry-go-round horse; and "Magic Rolling Board," which shows the thrill of skateboarding.

Among new books on display for National Children's Book Week are, "The Donkey Prince," M. Jean Craig; "Doubt Dare Dog," Ray Prather; "I Been There," Carol Hall, and "It's So Nice To Have A Wolf Around the House," Harry Allard.

Fun Fair At Ottawa

BUCHANAN — Parent Teacher Organization of Ottawa school will sponsor a Fun Fair Saturday, Nov. 19, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the school.

The fair will feature a cake walk, games, bake sale and Christmas bazaar. Lunch will also be available.

Proceeds will be used to purchase equipment for the school and repair old equipment.

The public is invited.

Safety Program Proposed For St. Joe Schools

Mrs. Joanne Averill, a St. Joseph Board of Education member, last night proposed a six-point safety program for the district.

Her proposal came in the wake of two recent gymnasium accidents at the high school.

Timothy Spitzer, a freshman, died Nov. 5 after falling from a ladder after school hours, and Kathleen A. Romeu, a sophomore, was injured Oct. 26 when caught between a folding partition during a physical education class.

The board took no action on Mrs. Averill's proposal but agreed to include it in an upcoming review of all board policies.

Mrs. Averill's proposed program includes:

"1. All staff shall be requested to review their facilities and practices with regard to safety and to report needs and weaknesses along with recommendations.

"2. Concentrated safety efforts will be expected in the following areas: kitchens, pool area, gymnasiums, laboratories, shops and playgrounds.

"3. Safety devices, such as signs, slogans, warning bells and lights, shall be used where appropriate.

"4. Coaches and advisers who conduct activities outside the normal school hours are expected to observe strict rules of control; no practice or use of facilities shall be allowed without the presence of the staff member in charge; signs to that effect shall be posted conspicuously.

"5. There shall be administrative review of the safety conditions in the senior high school auditorium, especially those regarding the exits and the stage, of safety practices and conditions in the gymnasiums,

FACING DEMOLITION HEARING: St. Joseph City Commissioners have scheduled Dec. 12 public hearing to determine if this house at 806 Jones Street should be demolished for failure to meet city building code standards. especially those around bleachers, locker rooms and athletic fields and of safety devices pertaining to the school buses, especially pertaining to prompt repairs, the publishing of rules of their use, and the need for emergency radio communication apparatus.

"6. The purchase and installation of needed safety devices and the necessary repairs and remodeling of facilities or equipment shall receive top priority in the allocation of the building and site funds."

Asked after the meeting if safety measures were in use now, Mrs. Averill said many are, but some seem to be "implied," and a formal policy would clarify matters.

Dr. John Porritt, a board member, suggested that the board also consider as policy standard operating procedures for all emergencies. The board agreed. Don Fredrickson, a high school wood shop teacher and president of the St. Joseph Education Association, suggested that an outside expert be sought to review all areas of school safety. No action was taken, but the board agreed to consider it.

In other business, the board agreed to try to resolve a complaint by secretaries, who are receiving less money, despite a 6 per cent pay increase. The board last month approved the hourly wage hike—the first for secretaries in two years. However, the hours per day were reduced from 8 to 7.

District Business Manager Dennis Percy said that while the secretaries are now paid more per hour, they are taking home less money because of the reduced hours.

The board reported that it will try to find funds to increase the hours to eight per day. The board will meet with the school Management Council at 7:30 p.m. next Monday, at Jefferson School. The council includes the superintendent, business manager and principals.

The district's secretaries are not represented by a bargaining agent.

The board voted to transport by bus 11 high school students residing in the City of St. Joseph but more than the 1½-mile limit for busing under state law for reimbursement. No added buses will be required, it was reported.

SJ Okays Studies For Two Projects

The St. Joseph City Commission Monday night approved contracts with the Chicago engineering firm of Consoer Townsend & Associates for preliminary studies of the water distribution system and a site for a new public works headquarters.

One study would recommend specific improvements for the city's water distribution system. City Manager Gerald Hepler said up to $600,000 is available from a 1973 bond issue to pay for the actual work on the system.

The other study would recommend the best site for construction of a new public works complex to replace existing facilities at the north end of Langley Avenue.

Hepler said the study would compare the Langley Avenue site with a six-acre parcel owned by the city in an industrial park on Hawthorne Avenue.

The study would recommend the best site in terms of access, construction costs and existing utilities, Hepler said.

The cost of the water distribution study is not to exceed $25,000, and the public works study is not to exceed $12,000. Hepler said. The city will be billed monthly for the exact amount of time engineers devote to each study, he added.

Hepler said one of the aims of the water distribution study is to improve both normal and emergency water flows along Langley Avenue and in the area of St. Joseph High School. He said these areas at present have a "limited flow."

He described the improvement project as an attempt to "fine-tune" the city water distribution system. The impact of the project on St. Joseph Township would also be included in the study, he said.

The improvements will be paid for with some $600,000 set aside from a $1.7 million bond issue in 1973 that raised money for expansion of the water treatment plant, according to Hepler.

The new public works facility would be paid for with federal revenue sharing funds. Hepler said that as much as $700,000 could be made available for the project including anticipated revenue sharing money to be received between now and September, 1980.

The city has already saved up $210,000 in revenue sharing for the project, he said.

In another area, the commission scheduled a Dec. 12 public hearing to determine if a two-story frame house at 806 Jones Street should be demolished for failure to meet city building code standards.

The building is owned by Mrs. Ruth Machacek, 3038 Niles Road, St. Joseph Township, and is currently being rented to a tenant, according to Carl Conklin, director of building and inspections. The tenant was not identified.

Conklin told commissioners inspection notices listing the building's deficiencies had been sent to Mrs. Machacek's husband, Clifford, but no action has been taken. Machacek is a vocational agricultural teacher at Benton Harbor High School, Conklin said.

The building was last inspected Nov. 8 by Conklin and Hepler.

Hepler said he and Conklin are recommending that the City Commission order the building razed if the owner does not make the required renovations.

The inspection sheet listed numerous deficiencies including deteriorated walls and ceilings inside, deteriorated shingles on the roof, no hot water in the bathroom, worn and broken steps, and exterior siding falling away.

Collision In BH Injures Two Women

Two St. Joseph women were reported treated at Memorial Hospital for head bruises and released Monday afternoon after a two-car accident in Benton Harbor.

Benton Harbor police said Pamela R. Mosher, 20, of 912 Broad St., and Karen M. Collis, 22, of 323 Lake Court, were injured at 3:25 p.m. in a collision on Main Street at Colfax Avenue.

Patrolman George Hawblitzel said Janie Martin, 28, of 2394 Irving, Benton Township, was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way after the auto she was driving and a car driven by Pamela Mosher collided. Karen Collis was a passenger in the Mosher auto, the officer said.

Covert Pay Talks Resume Monday

COVERT — Negotiating teams for the Covert Board of Education and Covert Education Association are scheduled to return to the bargaining table next Monday in an effort to settle their stalled contract talks.

"We're going in there Monday night on the assumption that we're going to resolve the contract," board President Donald Quinn said at Monday night's school board meeting.

"I believe we can settle the contract without binding fact finding, but it will take some compromise on both sides," added Harold Larsen, Van Buren county director for the Michigan Education Association.

Although the teachers and board are currently in the third year of a three-year contract, economic issues are up for renegotiation.

Quinn's announcement that the board would send its negotiating team back to the bargaining table followed a two-hour and 15 minute board executive session. The board went into the closed session after hearing a statement from the CEA calling for binding fact finding.

Quinn, after returning, said he did not believe the fact finding was necessary, and that a contract could be reached through negotiation.

According to Nancy Wertheimer, CEA president, the union and board are about $100 apart on the amount of the raise to be granted to teachers. Larsen estimated the total cost difference at about $10,000.

Mrs. Wertheimer said teachers want a $550 to $580 raise over last year, and the board is offering $450 to $550.

Quinn said the board is figuring the increase on the 1976-77 base wage figures before a $422 raise granted last year. Coupled with the 1976-77 boost, the board is actually offering $872 to teachers with bachelor degrees and $872 for those with master degrees.

According to Quinn, the board feels the $422 increase added last year should not be included in figuring a new increase although added to the total package.

The teachers are basing their amount on what they were paid last school year, including the increase.

The board's offer also includes improved dental and health insurance. However, teachers at the top of the bachelor and master scales would receive only a $701 hike, rather than the $872 and $972.

The CEA statement said that new teachers would receive no pay increase under the board offer. It also claimed that Covert salaries are among the lowest in the county, and that even though the board negotiating team has admitted it has enough money to meet the CEA proposal, it is not going to do so.

During the meeting, Quinn criticized release of information on the talks to the news media and also use of a $400 figure as the board's base offer. Mrs. Wertheimer said she issued the statement after being contacted by a representative of a newspaper and that she did not give out the erroneous figure.

In other areas, the board approved an agreement with Klett Construction, Hartford, concerning work on the high school parking lot. Under the agreement, Klett will correct any bad spots, compact the lot with a roller, and pay half the cost of sealing and painting the lot.

Quinn said that in return, the board will not take any legal action against Klett for deficiencies in the lot. He asserted that the mix used in the lot did not meet specifications, and that it was not properly compacted during initial construction by Klett.

Policies dealing with snow days and duties of the athletic director were also approved. Teachers will be required to report for work on snow days unless specifically notified.

The athletic director will also be responsible for the summer recreation program, adult education, lunch program activities, and in working with the high school principal on student activities.

Harold Bracken voted no on the policy during a voice vote, saying that it sounded more like a job description than a policy.

Also present were Bernard Lucas, Alice Blair, Quinn, and Jerry Foster. Absent were Rev. L. C. Berry and Carl Grigori.

Zollar's Condition Is 'Stable'

State Sen. Charles O. Zollar (R-Benton Harbor) was described as "stable" this morning by his physician, Dr. John H. Carter.

Zollar is in Memorial Hospital, St. Joseph, where he sustained a heart attack Saturday morning after being admitted Friday.

Dr. Carter said that, as a heart attack patient, Zollar will be considered in critical condition, for most of his stay in the hospital. He is expected to be hospitalized for at least three weeks.

Carter said he visited the senator last night, and he appeared to be resting comfortably and doing "as expected."

Sadat, Begin Appear Near Accord On Israel Visit

JERUSALEM (AP) — A visit by President Anwar Sadat to Israel appeared certain after Prime Minister Menachem Begin said he would send the Egyptian leader a formal invitation and Sadat said he would accept it.

It would be the first public visit by an Arab leader to Israel since the founding of the Jewish state in 1948.

Interviewed via satellite Monday by Walter Cronkite on the CBS Evening News, Begin said he would make a statement in the Israeli parliament today "and I think that immediately after this statement I will get in touch with Mr. (Samuel) Lewis, my good friend the American ambassador."

Begin said he would ask Lewis "to find out in Cairo from his colleague, the American ambassador to Egypt, whether he will be prepared to give us his good offices and transmit a letter from me to President Sadat inviting him formally and cur-daily through the good offices of the United States to come to Jerusalem."

Begin added: "...as we really want the visit of President Sadat, we really want to negotiate peace, to establish permanent peace, I will not hesitate to send such a letter."

Begin's invitation and Sadat's acceptance took the Carter administration by surprise, and no authoritative comment was immediately available in Washington.

Begin spoke to Cronkite after Sadat, also interviewed via satellite, told the American newscaster: "I'm just waiting for the proper invitation."

"You must get something direct from Mr. Begin, not through the press?" Cronkite asked.

"Right, right," Sadat replied. "And how would that be transmitted, sir, since you do not have diplomatic relations with Israel?" Cronkite continued.

"Why not through our mutual friend, the Americans?" Sadat replied.

The president said his only condition is that he wants to discuss "the whole situation with the 120 members of the Knesset (the Israeli parliament) and put the full picture and detail the situation from our point of view."

Asked how soon he would be prepared to go to Jerusalem, Sadat said: "Really, I'm looking forward to fulfill this visit in the earliest time possible."

"That could be, say, within a week?" Cronkite asked.

"You can say that, yes," Sadat replied.

The president said in addition to addressing the Knesset he would engage in substantive discussions with Begin.

"We are in a crucial moment," he added. "There has never been a suitable moment in the Arab world to reach genuine peace like we are now, so I want to put the facts before them and at the same time, we want to discuss what will be the other alternative if we can't achieve peace. It would be horrible. Believe me, horrible."

The idea of a trip to Israel by the Egyptian president was first raised by him last Wednesday when he told the Egyptian parliament he would go to Jerusalem and address the Knesset if he received an invitation.

On Friday, Begin said it would be a pleasure to welcome and receive Sadat. On Saturday, Sadat repeated his offer during a meeting with U.S. congressmen. That night, Begin repeated his invitation, and on Sunday he told reporters, "If President Sadat wants an official invitation from me, he has it."

Earlier Monday, State Department officials were talking about a trip by Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance to the Middle East in January if the administration's plans for a new Geneva conference before the end of the year fell through. They also said Carter and Vance were considering a meeting in Europe next month between Vance and Arab and Israeli foreign ministers in an effort to promote peace talks.

Although the idea of Sadat's visiting Israel originated with the Egyptian, Moscow charged that it was an attempt by Israel and the United States to divide the Arabs.

"Despite many unclear points in the current Egyptian-Israeli dialogue, one can discern in it the attempts of Tel Aviv and the forces behind it to urge Egypt onto the road of separate negotiations and deals with Israel," said Pravda, the Soviet Communist Party newspaper. Israel's military chief of staff said despite Sadat's willingness to come to Israel to discuss peace, his army was preparing for war.

Li Gen. Mordechai Gur told the newspaper Yediot Aharonot the Egyptian army was busy "with training, reinforcement of troops and other preparations for war ... toward 1978."

"Like every Israeli, I would be happy" if Sadat came to Israel, said Gur, "but if he plans another deception like the Yom Kippur War (of 1973), his intentions are clear to us."

The general said the forces Egypt had built up on its western front with Libya "can be transferred to the Israeli front in no time." He said the Egyptians were building "a huge defense line" of 350 bunkers along the Suez Canal which could absorb five divisions in a matter of hours.

Bars Disregard Bottomless Ban

DETROIT (AP) — Police say it's bare business as usual, despite a state ban on bottomless dancers and X-rated movies at bars.

Highland Park Police Capt. Robert Hines said officers did not write citations for violations because the state Liquor Control Commission did not send his department a copy of the regulation. Hines said he was uncertain what he was supposed to enforce. The ban went into effect on Sunday.

In Detroit, Executive Deputy Police Chief James Bannon said officers won't enforce the regulation until guidelines from the vice section are drawn up.

At the Club Manchester in Highland Park on Monday, customers watched a stripper known as Black Velvet slip out of a skin tight dress and discard her bra and garter belt.

Bill Swor, a lawyer representing the Club Manchester, said the establishment will continue to offer its brand of entertainment and wait to see if citations are issued.

At the Tender Trap, Allis Deer and five other dancers entertained customers with bottomless dancing.

The liquor control commission declared the ban in part because several thousand Michigan residents, including 5,000 Detroiters who signed petitions, don't want bottomless dancing in bars.

BROKEN ARMY PROMISE? Court Revives His Hopes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Allen Aaron Jackson was a 21-year-old Army recruit in 1974 when a tank literally cut him in half, severing both legs and leaving the kidneys and bladder as the only organs left intact below his navel.

Jackson survived and now wants $5 million. He says the Army should be forced to pay him because he never should have been near that tank.

The Supreme Court kept alive Jackson's hopes of winning his lawsuit when it sent his case back to the U.S. Court of Claims on Monday. That court previously had dismissed the suit after apparently making a factual error in its deliberations.

"We were both surprised and delighted to hear about the court's action," said one of Jackson's lawyers. The ex-soldier is being represented by the prestigious San Francisco law firm headed by Melvin Belli.

Jackson, now 24 and a Chicago resident, signed up with the Army intent on learning a trade. He signed a contract in which the Army pledged to give him at least 18 months of mechanical training so he could go into the service station or car repair business after a three-year hitch.

Jackson's still claims he was promised that his specialized training would begin as soon as he finished basic training, but his first assignment was to a tank division.

Disgruntled by what he considered a breach of contract, Jackson requested and had scheduled a May 20, 1974, meeting with superior officers to discuss the matter. The meeting was never held.

The tank division's commander ordered that Jackson postpone the meeting to go out on maneuvers. It was during those exercises that the tank ran over him.

The Supreme Court told the claims court Monday that its finding that Jackson had not completed basic training when the accident occurred was apparently wrong and that the lower court should study again whether he is entitled to damages from the Army.

In other matters, the court:

—Agreed to decide whether concern for the existence of a tiny endangered fish, the snail darter, should block completion of a $118 million dam in Tennessee.

A federal appeals court ruled last January that the snail darter, a 3-inch long member of the perch family found only along a 17-mile stretch of the Little Tennessee River, has to be protected. The lower court ordered the Tennessee Valley Authority to halt construction of the nearly completed Tellico Dam.

—Agreed to review the validity of Iowa's system of assessing corporate income taxes on out-of-state companies doing business in Iowa.

Iowa's corporate tax assessments generally are higher than those imposed by 41 other states and the District of Columbia. If the Supreme Court upholds Iowa's system, other states are likely to consider adopting it to increase revenues.

—Let stand a lower court's ruling in a case from Illinois that state prison officials must supply a reason when refusing to let a prisoner call witnesses at a disciplinary hearing.

—Said it will resolve conflicting lower-court rulings over whether federal appeals courts have the power to certify class-action lawsuits. In such suits, a small number of persons may file a suit on behalf of a much larger group of individuals who allegedly were injured.

—The justices left intact the death sentences of convicted murderers in Nebraska, Florida and Georgia.

—The court, by a 5-4 vote, set aside a decision by the Oregon Supreme Court striking down the method by which the state fired its employees. The majority directed the Oregon court to reconsider the case in light of a recent Supreme Court decision in an Illinois driver's license case that said "something less than an evidentiary hearing is sufficient prior to adverse administrative action."

New Housing Chief Plans Review

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A full review of the state Housing Development Authority's internal structure and policies must be conducted, says the authority's new leader.

"The authority has a very capable staff and one of the outstanding track records in the country. But any organization that goes a long time without a full-time leader needs a review," said Richard Heimbrecht, director of the state Department of Commerce.

Heimbrecht, 41, agreed Monday to accept the new job next month at the unanimous request of authority members — and the urging of Gov. William Milliken.

The $38,900-a-year post has been vacant since David Froh resigned in February.

Heimbrecht, a close political and personal confidante of the governor, said he could not say what changes he would make in the authority until the review was completed.

Under terms of the agreement, Department of Social Services Director John Dempsey will relinquish the chairmanship of the board to Mandell Berman. Heimbrecht will serve as executive director.

"I agreed to the change because I am confident that Mr. Heimbrecht can provide the administrative leadership and executive direction necessary to maintain Michigan's strong position among the states in provision of low and moderate income housing," Milliken said.

The authority, which sells bonds to provide housing, was formed seven years ago. Since then, it has financed more than 24,000 housing units with money derived from the sale of nearly $800 million worth of bonds. The Legislature recently increased the authority's bond ceiling to $900 million.

The authority also has been involved in the rehabilitation and sale of abandoned single-family homes where ownership has reverted to the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Heimbrecht will continue to serve as chairman of the governor's Urban Action Group, which has been working for about a year on development of new programs to help revitalize the state's cities and urban areas.

Saudis May Ask U.S. To Sell Somalia Arms

CAIRO (AP) — Saudi Arabia is expected to renew pressure on the United States to become Somalia's major arms supplier following the Somalis' break with Moscow.

The decision by the Marxist regime in Mogadishu to bar the Soviet navy from the two Somali ports it had been using and expel Soviet military and technical experts in the East African country was a victory for Saudi petrodollar diplomacy even though it was provoked by the Soviets themselves.

For years, the Saudis had been dangling the prospect of large-scale aid before President Mohammed Siad Barre if he would move out of the Soviet orbit. But Barre stuck with the Kremlin until it began pouring arms into Ethiopia while denying them to Somalia in an attempt to end Somali support of the rebels fighting to join the Ogaden region of south east Ethiopia to Somalia.

As Soviet supplies to Somalia stopped arriving, the Saudis loosened their purse strings. Saudi aid to Somalia this year reportedly totals some $200 million, and after Sunday's break more can be expected.

Saudi Arabia, Egypt, Iraq and Iran have been reported sending light arms to Somalia to help the Ogaden rebels fight the Ethiopian regime. Now, diplomatic sources said, Saudi Arabia is expected to renew its campaign to persuade Washington to supply Somalia with heavy arms which oil money would pay for.

This has been a Saudi goal for at least three years, since the Saudi government was shown satellite photographs of Soviet missile stockpiles in Somalia.

James Akins, a former U.S. ambassador to Saudi Arabia, testified before a congressional committee that the Saudis during the Ford administration were willing to finance the sale of U.S. weapons to Somalia. Akins said the proposal was rejected by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

Last July, the United States, Britain and France said they were willing to sell defensive arms to the Somalis. But they withdrew the offer when the fighters in the Ogaden began to use tanks and planes.

The State Department on Monday praised Somalia's anti-Soviet action but said the United States still would not sell arms to the country. A spokesman said the Carter administration continues to believe that "African problems should be solved by Africans themselves."

Strikers Assist In Hospital Blaze

LONDON (AP) — Dozens of London firemen abandoned their day-old national strike for an hour early today to help inexperienced army firefighters put out a blaze in a hospital and rescue scores of helpless patients from smoke-filled wards.

"The soldiers were doing their best, but they were out of their depth," said Jim Rogers, a leader of the striking firemen in the East End. "People would have died if we hadn't come in. Our boys would have lynched me if I'd tried to stop them fighting the fire."

One squad of strikers put on breathing apparatus and made their way through the choking smoke to put out the fire in the basement of the 400-bed St. Andrew's Hospital.

Others took over hoses from the 40 army troops manning absolute civil defense fire trucks taken out of mothballs by the government to meet the emergency.

There were no casualties, and the firemen went back to the picket lines after the fire was under control.

The hospital fire was the most serious blaze reported during the first 24 hours of the strike for higher pay by most of Britain's 33,000 full-time firemen. It is Britain's first national firemen's strike, and the government mobilized 10,000 hastily-trained soldiers plus thousands of part-time reserve firemen and civilian volunteers.

Evel Prepares For Jail Term

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Motorcycle daredevil Evel Knievel has been given one week to get his affairs in order before he begins serving six months in jail for beating his former press agent with a baseball bat.

Superior Court Judge Edward Rafeedie compared Knievel's actions to a primitive form of "frontier justice." He also said Knievel would spend three years on probation.

Knievel admitted he attacked Sheldon Saltman because he didn't like a book Saltman wrote about him.

Knievel attacked Saltman with the baseball bat Sept. 21 while an unidentified man held the victim. Saltman suffered compound fractures of both wrists and has begun action on a civil suit against Knievel.

"I have not been perfect and I have never claimed to be," Knievel said Monday just before sentencing.

Rafeedie scolded Knievel, 39, for setting a bad example for his young fans around the world.

"We long ago abandoned frontier justice in California," said Rafeedie. "No affront justifies such retaliation. It sets a terrible example."

Saltman, 46, now a vice president of the telecommunications division of 20th Century-Fox Studios, was the press agent for Knievel's unsuccessful 1974 attempt to jump Idaho's Snake River Canyon in a rocket-powered motorcycle. He wrote of that association in the book, "Evel Knievel on Tour."

Knievel said the book depicted him as a drug addict, adulterer, anti-Semite and "an immoral person." However, he acknowledged that 85 to 90 percent of the book is truthful.

Lawyers Ask Dismissal Of Suit To Block Pigeon River Drilling

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — An Ingham County judge is studying requests from attorneys to throw out a lawsuit that would block expanded oil and gas drilling in Pigeon River Country State Forest.

The state filed a series of motions Monday with Circuit Judge Thomas Brown, asking him to throw out key portions of the suit, which was filed by environmentalists.

Lawyers for Shell Oil Co. also asked the judge to dismiss the suit. The motions came immediately after Roger Conner, attorney for the West Michigan Environmental Action Council, concluded five weeks of testimony and arguments against further development in the semi-wilderness area in northern Lower Michigan.

Brown did not rule on the motions, but said he intends to issue decisions before the state and Shell present their sides in the case.

His rulings will determine the future course of the trial. He could dismiss part or all of the case, or refuse all the motions and order the state and Shell to proceed with their arguments.

Brown's eventual decision, whether soon or after the entire case is complete, is expected to be appealed by the losing side. Those involved with the trial say environmentalists probably face a defeat.

Assistant Attorney General Stewart Freeman presented Brown with the motions Monday, arguing Conner had not proved his case and that the complaints should be dismissed.

"We're saying that even if you believe the witnesses and read the exhibits ... he still hasn't shown that the state has done anything wrong," Freeman said later.

Webb Smith, attorney for Shell, supported Freeman's contention. Shell is to drill on behalf of itself and other firms under a 1976 agreement with the state permitting tightly controlled drilling in the southern third of the 96,000-acre forest.

Conner, in return, argued he had proved his case and the judge should require the defendants to present their arguments.

Conner has tried to show the Natural Resources Commission did not fulfill its duty to protect the environment by considering alternative oil sites before permitting exploration in Pigeon River. And he argued there was not adequate public notice of the 1976 agreement between the commission and three oil companies which opened the southern third of the forest to drilling.

Finally, he said the original leases sold in 1963 for oil development were issued illegally.

Natural Resources Director Howard Tanner has approved 10 drilling permits in Pigeon River under the 1976 agreement. Under the agreement, however, no drilling can begin until at least Dec. 1, the end of the elk mating season.

Senate OKs Bill To Kill 'Red Squad'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — An old state law establishing the state police "Red Squad" would be repealed by a bill on its way to the House.

The Senate passed the bill 251 Monday night. It would wipe the old law off the books, even though the subversive surveillance unit has been disbanded.

The House already has passed similar legislation.

Ingham County Circuit Judge Thomas Brown issued a ruling disbanding the Red Squad in 1976, although the law establishing it remained on the books.

Blues Will Close Four State Offices

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Blue Cross-Blue Shield says it will close four offices and cut service at four others next year to save $1 million.

Planned for closing are three suboffices handling individual subscriber accounts. They are at Battle Creek, February; Muskegon, April; and Sault Ste. Marie, next November. A small district office in downtown Detroit will close in early spring and its functions transferred to district offices on the east and west sides.

Group sales offices will be removed from Blues offices at Mount Clemens, Ann Arbor, Kalamazoo and Flint in 1978.

But those offices will continue to handle individual services.

A spokeswoman for Blue Cross-Blue Shield said an internal study showed the giant insurer could save about $1 million a year and give better service in the bargain.

The changes will leave the Blues with 11 offices for individual services and eight for group sales, the spokeswoman said.

A new toll-free telephone number and a direct mail post office box address will be provided to all subscribers with questions and problems about individual accounts.

Protesters Await Shah As He Opens U.S. Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the Shah of Iran was opening a two-day state visit here today, security forces braced for demonstrations seen as the biggest display of political agitation since the Vietnam War era.

City police and federal authorities prepared to cope with competing groups of placard-carrying, slogan-shouting demonstrators split between supporters and opponents of the monarch.

Permits for the demonstrations indicated 10,000 to 15,000 people might take part in protests around the city.

After an overnight stay at colonial Williamsburg, Va., 150 miles south of here, the shah planned to fly by helicopter to the Ellipse near the White House for a ceremonial welcome from President Carter.

The anti-shah forces, complaining of alleged tyrannical rule in Iran and its economic and military ties with the United States, said that the Iranian government is bankrupting travel and housing for the pro-shah factions during the monarch's visit.

The Iranian government has angrily denied the charge.

In turn, the Iranian foreign ministry has charged that "criminals and anarchists" financed by Libya and other countries make up the anti-shah elements assembled here.

Opposing Iranian groups were assigned separate areas on the Ellipse for demonstrations, and police took measures to insure the two factions remained apart.

Permits indicated that as many as 9,000 pro-shah demonstrators were expected, including 422 Iranian military personnel training in Texas and a number of Assyrian and Armenian organizations from around the country.

The anti-shah demonstrators were organized by a coalition of Iranian student groups. Police predicted as many as 4,000 people would protest the shah's policies and ties with the United States.

Blair House, the temporary residence for the shah and his wife, Farah, was subjected to unusually tight security, as was the White House across Pennsylvania Avenue.

The Carter administration's relations with Iran reflect several of the difficulties it has had in pursuing some of the foreign policy goals it has set.

The administration's tendency toward a strong emphasis on human rights and reducing overseas arms sales has been blunted, in the case of Iran, by what officials describe as hard political realities.

These realities include Iran's role as a 500,000 barrel-a-day oil supplier and its strategic location amid other oil-producing states and along the southern border of the Soviet Union.

The Carter administration, like its predecessors, has considered a politically stable pro-American Iran vital to U.S. interests.

Thus, the administration generally has been silent about political repression in Iran, even though the shah himself recently acknowledged Iran has political prisoners.

He has said that 270 prisoners were set free three weeks ago, leaving 2,200 prisoners whom he categorized in an interview Monday night as urban guerrillas or terrorists. Opponents of the monarchy claim the number of political prisoners may run as high as 100,000.

The shah told interviewers in Williamsburg Monday night that claims 581 political prisoners had died from torture or execution were "ridiculous."

He denied charges of political torture by the Iranian secret police made by such groups as Amnesty International and the International Commission on Jurists.

"I don't see why you raise a question like that because there is not a problem as far as I am concerned. ... Torture does not exist any more in my country," he commented.

The Carter administration, he said, has never raised the human rights issue with Iranian authorities.

Carter's pledge to reduce overseas arms sales has not affected Iran thus far. The Congress, at the strong urging of the administration, last month approved the sale of seven highly sophisticated airborne radar systems at a cost of $1.2 billion.

The shah and Carter were expected to discuss Iran's request for 140 F-16 fighters to supplement 100 already purchased. The shopping list the shah brought here reportedly also includes additional billions of dollars worth of naval equipment and other types of aircraft.

Carter's repeated appeals in recent weeks for a freeze in the world price of oil thus far have drawn no opposition from the shah.

Policeman Cleared In Car Death

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) — The Traverse County prosecutor's office says no negligence was involved when a Traverse City policeman's car killed a pregnant woman.

The ruling Monday cleared Patrolman Dennis Padgett, 30, a Traverse City officer.

Prosecutor John Foresman said Padgett, a four-year veteran of the force, was rushing to a fire Friday at the National Guard Armory when the crash occurred.

Foresman said Padgett, whose squad car was using both its lights and siren, slowed for an intersection and then sped up.

Investigating sheriff's deputies said Jacqueline Underhill, 21, of Rapid City, stopped her small sports car briefly in the intersection but then turned into the cruiser's path and her auto was hit broadside.

Mrs. Underhill, who was six months pregnant, was dead on arrival at a hospital. Padgett was treated for minor facial cuts.

Fire officials said the fire turned out to be a piece of twine burning in an ash tray. Padgett has a total of 12 years of experience in law enforcement, the Traverse County prosecutor's office said.

Bangor May Seek New Millage In '78

BANGOR — The Bangor School Board asked its budget committee Monday night to investigate the possibility of seeking additional millage around the first of the year for designated areas of need. Superintendent Fred Stap said raising operational costs for utilities and fuel, plus the expense of opening a new elementary school could require additional funding. Stap said the new elementary school would open either in the spring or next fall.

In other areas, the board asked for a study into the possibility of Bangor joining another high school athletic conference for the 1978-79 academic year. Norman Johnson, athletic director, was asked to make the study and report his findings at a later date. Bangor is currently a member of the Kalamazoo Valley Athletic (KVA) conference, which includes Delton, Parchment, Mattawan, Kalamazoo Christian, Galesburg-Augusta, Springfield and Battle Creek St. Philip.

It was the opinion of the board that a conference with schools closer in proximity to Bangor would be more advantageous. Two such conferences now exist, the Southwestern Athletic Conference and the Allegan-Ottawa Conference.

It was reported that 4th and 7th grade state assessment scores showed a marked improvement in most areas, compared to last year, according to Stap. The board also approved an administrative procedure for selecting varsity, junior varsity and freshman cheerleading squads. Three teachers have been named to select the squads, based on a point system awarded for various cheerleading skills during tryouts. The teachers are Janet Trapp, Norma Bowden and Hilda Toltz. Fall sports cheerleaders are selected in May and winter sports cheerleaders will be selected during the next two weeks.

Dick Jeschke of the Van Buren Skills Center reported on a new job placement program where he will be assigned to Bangor skill center students one day a week in an effort to help them obtain employment. Loren Pyle, high school home liaison advisor, reported there has been a marked improvement in attendance, less tardiness and a better feeling among parents since the program was instituted this year.

Gun Charge Vs. Rampart Chief Hinges On Job

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

Stephen L. Reed, known as the president of Rampart Ambulance Service, has been charged with carrying a concealed weapon, but a senior detective with the Berrien County Sheriff's Department doesn't think the charge will hold up in court.

Reed was charged with carrying a concealed weapon after he told booking officers at the county jail he is unemployed, according to Detective Capt. Ronald Immoos. If Reed is not employed, his license to carry a pistol in connection with his work isn't valid, Immoos said.

However, Immoos and the arresting officer, Deputy Jack Root, say Reed was angry when he said he is unemployed. They said they think he is still president of Rampart and, as such, has a valid license to carry the gun. Immoos said he doesn't think the charge will hold up in Reed's Berrien District Court preliminary examination. Immoos said he was surprised this morning to learn the charge was authorized.

Root said he was on patrol Sunday about 11 p.m. when he saw a Rampart ambulance in St. Joseph. He said he followed the ambulance on the chance that Reed was in it. Root said the sheriff's department had an arrest warrant for Reed charging he wrote an insufficient fund check.

Root said Reed, wearing a jacket with "Rampart Ambulance" on the back, had just walked out of the emergency room when he was arrested. Root said Reed was walking toward a parked Rampart ambulance at Memorial Hospital.

Root alleged he found a .45 caliber automatic pistol in Reed's belt. Root looked over Reed's concealed weapon permit, which Root said was valid, confiscated the pistol and took Reed to jail.

At the jail, Root said, Reed denied he worked for Rampart and said he was "unemployed." Root said, Root said Reed was "highly upset." Reed's statement forced the deputy to charge him with carrying a concealed weapon without a license, said Root.

Reed demanded examination on the charge Monday in Berrien District Court. He also pleaded innocent to the check charge. According to that warrant, Reed allegedly wrote a $83 check Aug. 23 to Wickes Lumber Co. on his personal account.

Brush Fire Raging In California

afraid of fires when they move in there. There are always fires in the canyon," he said.

Each year at this time, moist breezes from the Pacific are replaced, often for several days at a time, by the hot desert Santa Ana winds blowing over southern California from the east.

The Santa Ana fanned this July's $100 million fire in Santa Barbara, some 100 miles to the north. In that fire, started by a box kite snared in high tension wires, 200 homes were destroyed and another 150 were damaged.

In 1870, several homes were destroyed about five miles from the current blaze in the Malibu area. In 1960, more than $20 million in structural damage was recorded in a hill fire about 10 miles away in Bel Air.

Convict Denies Robbery In Cass

GRAND RAPIDS — An Indiana man serving an Illinois prison term for aggravated kidnapping pleaded innocent in U.S. District Court here Monday to a federal bank robbery charge stemming from the $33,517 holdup of a Cass County bank on March 10.

Rex Allen Yoder, 27, pleaded innocent before U.S. Magistrate Stephen Karr, according to FBI agents in Benton Harbor.

Yoder and two others are accused of the daylight robbery of the Union branch of the Michigan National Bank — Michigan.

Mrs. Diane T. Ferguson, 27, also of Elkhart, and Verne A. Marcotte, 29, Hammond, Ind., previously pleaded innocent in bank robbery charges in connection with the same robbery. No trial dates have been set.

The three were arrested in June. Yoder and Mrs. Ferguson near Kankakee, Ill., and Marcotte in Hammond.

The FBI said Yoder and Mrs. Ferguson were arrested by FBI and local officials jointly on the bank robbery and aggravated kidnapping charges and that both were subsequently convicted of the kidnapping charges.

Yoder was subsequently sentenced to a prison term of from two to six years and Mrs. Ferguson to a term of 13 months to 39 months on the Illinois kidnapping charges.

They were brought to Michigan to stand trial on the bank robbery charges, the FBI said.

There was no one hurt in the robbery of the Union branch bank when two masked men, each armed, took the money. The loot was never recovered.

Milliken controversy over Dammann's land holdings in Troy.

"It frankly is not related to Mr. Dammann," Milliken said of his decision.

Dammann, meanwhile, said Milliken's announcement "clarifies a major part of the Republican political environment." It will, he said, allow those interested in the Senate seat more time to wage a campaign.

The lieutenant governor urged Milliken to seek re-election.

State Republican Party Chairman William McLaughlin was in Milliken's office during the Monday night news conference.

Afterward, McLaughlin said he would continue pressing Milliken to run again.

"I think it's absolutely key ... We definitely want him on the ticket," added GOP Executive Secretary Jerry Rose.

House Minority Leader Dennis Cawthorne of Muskegon, who would like to be Milliken's running mate on the governor's slate next year, said, "I still think the odds are extremely heavy he will be a candidate for re-election."

Senate Minority Leader Robert Davis of Gaylord said, "It's a good sign." He said he thought Milliken would run next year.

"It would be the biggest surprise I've had in politics if he got out," said House Speaker Bobby Crim of Davison, a Democrat.

Milliken said deciding not to run for the Senate wasn't difficult.

"It's said that the Senate is the most exclusive club in the world. As far as I'm concerned, given the size of it ... it wasn't hard for me to make the final decision," he said.

Milliken said he had no plans to become involved in campaigning on behalf of the GOP Senate nominee.

Other than Dammann, the only other Republican who has indicated he will run for the Senate seat is Hillsdale College President George Roche.

State Sen. Anthony Derczynski and former U.S. Rep. Richard VanderVeem of Grand Rapids have formally announced for the Democratic nomination. Sen. John Otterbacher of Grand Rapids is also running, and another likely candidate is Ann Arbor publisher Philip Power.

Those willing to challenge Milliken's possible re-election bid are state Sens. William Fitzgerald and Patrick McCullough; former Public Service Commissioner William Rulis; and Michigan State University Professor Zoltan Ferenczy, a past Democratic candidate.

Buchanan Will Hire New Manager; Rehires Counsel

BUCHANAN — With two new members taking office, the Buchanan City Commission Monday night wasted no time in acting on three major issues here.

The commission voted 4-1 to hire a new city manager by Jan. 1, or as soon after as possible.

It voted 5-0 to rehire the law firm of Desenberg, Desenberg and Marrs of Buchanan which was fired last month.

And it rescinded a February decision which threw the city into a confrontation with Berrien County over taxable property value in the city.

Voting to seek a new city manager were Mayor Richard Gault, and commissioners Reginald Bellaire, Keith Welsh, and Gerald Radde. Bennett Jensen voted no.

Gault had announced at an October commission meeting that City Manager Robert Faulhaber would retire but said Faulhaber might remain for as long as a year while a replacement was sought.

Both Welsh and Radde, who were sworn into office at the session, had been critical of Faulhaber previously. Radde said after his election he was considering a request for Faulhaber's resignation.

Bellaire, who had clashed with Faulhaber in previous commission sessions, introduced the resolution that a replacement be sought.

Faulhaber, paid $22,500 annually, was not at the meeting and Gault reported he was out of town on city business. Faulhaber, 61, has been city manager since July, 1968.

Commission action to rehire the Buchanan law firm overturned its Oct. 24 vote to dismiss the firm. The dismissal vote came after the commission declined to act on a resignation offered by the firm.

In casting his vote to rehire the firm, Gault stipulated that Michael Marrs be the attorney to attend commission sessions. The senior partner in the firm, B. R. Desenberg, previously attended meetings, but had indicated he no longer wished to attend the night meetings of the commission.

Bellaire, who unsuccessfully fought to retain the firm at the October meeting, moved Monday that it be rehired. He said he felt the interim city legal firm, Klute, Stone and Campbell of Niles, was doing an excellent job, but felt the job should be kept within the city.

The tax measure rescinded by the commission had set a factor used in determining the taxable property value of industrial property at 1.0 and the factor for commercial and residential property at 1.47.

The difference had caused the city's valuation for tax purposes to be $35 million compared to the $37 million determined by the county.

Dollar-wise the difference would amount to $36,000 less in tax income to the county, schools and city which levy taxes on city property.

The factor is used to bring the assessed valuation figure up to what is considered 50 percent of true market value. A 1.0 factor means the assessed value equals the 50 percent mark. A 1.47 factor means the assessment is to be increased.

Gault announced, in connection with the tax move, that interim attorney Murray Campbell and L. R. Pease, city assessor, would meet today to settle the method for bringing the figures in line.

Also Monday night, the commission took a step to provide one possible way of paying for the proposed second phase of the downtown business district improvement project. It approved the first reading of a tax increment financing ordinance.

Gault and Joseph Garbert II, chairman of the Downtown Development Authority, stressed that the ordinance, which requires second reading approval before becoming law, was only a way of paying for the proposed second phase. They both said it did not commit the city to carrying out the plan.

The ordinance designates most of the downtown business district as the area to be covered under the law. It provides that any increase in tax revenue, due to an increase in the taxable value of the designated property, can be used to pay off revenue bonds which might be issued to finance the project.

No definite physical plan has been established for the second phase of the project, nor have any definite cost figures been set, Gault said. Construction of the first phase of the project is now underway.

In reorganizational meeting, Gault was re-elected mayor and Bellaire was elected the new mayor pro tem, replacing Mildred Anderson. Mrs. Anderson lost a bid for re-election to the commission in the balloting earlier this month.

The commission accepted the bid of Michigan Building Construction Inc. of $77,950, plus two alternates totaling $7,450, for construction of the Jack Knight Memorial Chapel at the city cemetery. The firm was the lowest of five bidders on the project, which architect Ray Enfield said he hoped would be completed in April.

A special commission meeting was set for Monday, Nov. 21, with a time to be announced later. Commissioners said the session would end in time to meet later in the evening with the Buchanan Township Board in a special meeting called to explain a proposed new township zoning ordinance.

The low bid of Wesner Chevrolet, Buchanan, of $3,440 for a new half-ton pickup truck for the city fire department, was accepted. Wesner's bid, which included a trade-in on the city's present four-wheel drive vehicle, was the lowest of four bids.

A resolution asking that the open heart surgery unit remain at Mercy Hospital, Benton Harbor, was approved. The Southwest Michigan Health Systems Agency has proposed the unit be transferred to Borgess Hospital, Kalamazoo.

Gault proclaimed the week of Nov. 14-20 as Youth Appreciation Week. At the request of the Niles Optimist Club.

COLOMA LANES DAMAGED: Newly opened Coloma Lanes Bowling bowling alley, 6025 Mountain Road, Coloma, was reportedly broken into early today and a fire set in the lounge. Coloma Fire Department said fire was confined to center of bar in lounge but that smoke damage occurred throughout $750,000 center opened in September. Fire damage is seen in photo at left. Fire and break-in were discovered at 7:04 a.m. Tuesday by cleaning personnel. At right, officer Coloma Township officer Mike Whelan points to fire scene while Bob Davis, one of three owners of bowling alley looks on. Culprits broke into several pinball machines and removed change. No estimate of damage or exact cause was determined by fire officials. A state fire marshal will investigate scene later today. Police believe culprits were in building after it closed earlier Tuesday. (Cliff Stevens photos)

Permit Sought To Start South Haven Boat Marina

By TOM SAWYER
Staff Writer

SOUTH HAVEN — A South Haven man has applied for an Army Corps of Engineers permit to build eight boat slips as one of the first steps toward a planned $1 million waterfront development here. Robert Nichols, 201 Center St., said he is seeking the permit to construct the boat slips on property owned by Nichols Landing, about a half-mile southwest of the Dyckman Avenue Bridge on the Black River. Nichols said the slips will be 40 feet in length each and will be used for public boat docking.

According to Robert Nichols, he and his brother, Don Nichols, South Haven, and two Kalamazoo men, Robert Hoffman and Jay DeBruyn, are partners in the proposed waterfront development project. Robert Nichols said the project will include a series of specialty shops, restaurant and motel along the Nichols Landing, property located on the Black River off Williams Street near the intersection of Center Street. Nichols indicated the development would be along the theme of a harbor fishing village. "We'd like to see this become the start of the harbor village theme for the entire South Haven waterfront area," he said.

He said the group is hoping to start developing the area next year and said preliminary estimates indicate an investment of a little more than $1 million. Presently Nichols Landing serves as headquarters and docking for most of South Haven's commercially operated sports fishing fleet. Nichols said that while the new slips will be leased for pleasure boats, a 200-foot parallel dock will continue to be used for the sports fishing and commercial sight-seeing boats.

As submitted to the Corps of Engineers, the proposal for the dock construction includes dredging a 40 by 120-foot area and construction of a shoreline bulkhead. According to the Corps, objections or views related to the proposed dock construction may be filed with the Corps within 30 days of the filing for the permit on Nov. 4. A hearing on the proposal may also be requested in writing to the Detroit office of the Corps.

Judge Says Sand Mining Firm Needs DNR Permit

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Berrien Circuit Judge Chester J. Byrns yesterday ordered that a temporary restraining order remain in effect preventing Manley Brothers Sand Mining Co. from mining sand in the Grand Mere area.

But the judge modified the order on the four-acre parcel in Lincoln Township to allow the firm to do some preparation work but no mining for commercial purposes.

The action came during a hearing at which Manley Brothers was to show cause why the restraining order should not be changed to a temporary injunction, as requested by Lincoln Township.

Byrns last week issued the restraining order after Lincoln Township filed a petition to block mining, which Manley had planned to start last Thursday. The township asked that the mining be delayed while Manley seeks a permit from the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Manley had planned to start mining from five acres, of which four are in Lincoln Township. The exemption granted by Byrns allows the company to remove some topsoil, and mine enough sand to permit hydraulic mining equipment to be put in place. Manley Brothers will "continue procedures to get the DNR permit, according to the firm's counsel, St. Joseph attorney A.G. Preston Jr.

If the permit is issued by the DNR, the restraining order would be lifted, Preston said.

The case is a followup to a 1974 case before Byrns in which Lincoln and Lake townships sought controls over sand mining by Manley Brothers in the two townships. Byrns in 1974 ruled the company could remove sand under specific requirements.

The requirements ordered by the judge did not include the DNR permit, since the state act calling for a permit was not passed until the following year.

Byrns noted yesterday's court action came "because there isn't anybody to issue the permit." He said the situation resulted from the state legislature passing the Sand Dune Protection and Management Act, but not providing ways to implement, fund, or enforce it.

He said the legislature later passed an amendment saying the DNR could issue provisional permits for mining, but the DNR claimed it did not have the authority. The DNR asked the attorney general's office for an opinion, which has not been written, according to Byrns.

"The only thing holding this up is the lack of a provisional permit," Byrns commented.

The case went back into the courts after Manley Brothers notified the Lincoln Township Board it intended to begin mining in the northeast section of the 96.8 acres of land outlined in Byrns' 1974 order.

The area is north of Willow Road and south of the Kalamazoo Nature Center. The land is owned by Victor Peters, but Manley has an agreement to mine the sand in his property. Manley Brothers is based in Chester, Ind., and has a plant in Bridgman.

Republican Women Win State Award

The Berrien County Republican Women's Club has received the state "Members Are Everything" plaque for the biggest percentage increase in membership.

The plaque was presented last week at Midland during the annual meeting of Republican Women's Federation of Michigan. The Berrien Republican Women's Club increased its membership to 104, a 60.5 per cent gain. Representing Berrien at the meeting were Mrs. James Walton, Berrien Springs, Mrs. Clarence Hodges, Niles, and Mrs. Robert Burandt, St.

Joseph. Some 125 delegates attended the meeting to discuss plans for 1978 elections. Among speakers were Congressman Elford A. Cedarberg, of Midland, Mrs. Helen Milliken, wife of the governor and Betty Heitman, president-elect of the National Federation of Republican Women.

River Valley Nixes School Bonds Again

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau

THREE OAKS — Voters in the River Valley school district Monday rejected a proposed $3,715,000 school bond construction issue by 402 votes, according to unofficial returns.

The proposal, which would have initially required an additional maximum of 3.5 mills in property taxes, received 1,244 no votes and 782 yes votes.

Dr. Charles Williams, superintendent, expressed disappointment with the results. It was the third time in as many years that a proposed bond issue had been rejected. He said he had "no idea" what steps the school board would take in the wake of the defeat.

If approved, the issue would have financed a $2.0 million new middle school to replace two present buildings at New Troy and Three Oaks.

The issue would have also paid for repairs and additions at the New Troy elementary school totaling $399,800; Chikaming school, $109,160, and Three Oaks elementary school, $246,040.

Election officials said a total of 2,047 votes were cast, compared to 5,895 registered voters in the school district. There were 21 spoiled ballots.

SEEKS ROOT OF DRUG ABUSE Van Buren On New Tack

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A non-traditional approach to drug and alcohol abuse prevention is being tried in three Van Buren County school districts, according to a program official.

"The program is different for two reasons, according to Sandra Stuart, a counselor with the drug abuse program of the county Health Department and project coordinator. First, the program places emphasis on the root causes of substance abuse rather than strictly drug information, and secondly, it is aimed primarily at elementary and middle school children rather than high school students.

Miss Stuart said that initially drug abuse programs were based on "scare tactics." When authorities found out that wasn't working, they went to a more or less informational approach, she said.

But several recent studies indicate, she said, that just providing information can backfire: that more students may be experimenting with drugs because of interest stimulated by education programs.

"There has been some concern raised about a strictly pharmacological approach," she related. "They're not sure if it's because it lowers the anxiety about certain drugs — the idea that 'I can go ahead and use it safely' — or because it stimulates their curiosity."

As a result, Miss Stuart said, substance abuse prevention programs getting underway in the Lawton, Decatur, and Paw Paw schools will place emphasis at getting at the reasons why youngsters become involved with drugs and alcohol. "Information will be a part of the program, but it won't be the main thrust," she said.

Under the project, each school district will have a counselor who will develop substance abuse classes, conduct teacher in-service training and work with parent groups, she said. Each district will also have an advisory committee which will shape the nature of the program.

The salaries of the counselors are paid from the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA). Each district provides office space and between $300 and $500 for supplies, depending upon its size.

"In listing the reasons for drug abuse, kids almost never mention lack of information," Miss Stuart said.

Rather, the most common causes include peer group pressure, low self-concept, boredom, a search for an escape from problems, or lack of anything meaningful to do, she commented.

The emphasis on elementary and middle school age children is based on the fact that children ages 11-13 are already beginning to form their values about such things as drugs.

Miss Stuart remarked, "We feel it's important to deal with the causes (of abuse) at a pretty early age, rather than to wait until later when the problems are already fully developed," she said.

According to Miss Stuart, Lawton, Decatur, and Paw Paw were chosen for the program not because they have any more serious drug or alcohol problems than other schools, but because administrators or parent groups indicated an interest in having some type of prevention program.

The idea for the program, Miss Stuart said, developed last spring in the county's Youth Planning Council, which represents schools and agencies that work with young people.

A study conducted last spring by the Western Michigan University School of Social Work in conjunction with the council indicated that a majority of youth surveyed in Paw Paw and Decatur felt that too many young people got into drug problems. The study did not include Lawton, and did not attempt to measure actual drug or alcohol usage.

SANDRA STUART

"We're not going to be able to change the drug situation in one year," Miss Stuart said. "But we are trying to make some kind of an impact."

Cards Topple Dallas From Unbeaten List

DALLAS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals, back to their old routine finishes, unearthed 15-year veteran Jackie Smith for his first touchdown pass since 1975 Monday night to share heroics with Jim Hart and bury previously unbeaten Dallas 24-17 in high fourth-quarter drama.

"I think it's obvious we've turned our season around," said Hart, who rifled a 49-yard touchdown pass to Mel Gray and lobbed a 33-yard scoring pass to the 37-year-old Smith with 3:10 to play for the game winner.

Dallas' record dropped to 8-1 and St. Louis put some suspense back in the National Conference Eastern Division race with its fifth consecutive victory for a 6-3 ledger.

"I never thought something like this would happen to me again," said Smith, who was catching only his third pass of the season. "It's great to be part of it."

Hart said, "We usually throw that pass to the halfback and I think it surprised them."

Dallas, off to its best start in the 17-year history of the club, appeared to have the Cardinals well caged, building a 14-3 halftime lead on Tony Dorsett's 1-yard touchdown run and a 2-yard scoring pass from Roger Staubach to tight end Billy Joe DuFree.

All St. Louis had to show for the first half of the nationally televised match was Jim Bakken's 26-yard field goal.

Dallas snuffed a chance to blow the game wide open when Randy Hughes intercepted a Hart pass at the St. Louis 17 only to see DuFree return the favor with a fumble on an end around.

St. Louis' Wayne Morris scored on a 1-yard touchdown run after Benny Barnes was flagged on a 48-yard interference call and the Cardinals trailed only 14-10. Efrén Herrera's 21-yard field goal set the stage for Hart's fourth-quarter heroics.

He found Gray wide open behind Aaron Kyle and Cliff Harris for the game-tying touchdown, then burned the jittery Cowboy defense with the pass to Smith.

"We had the best feeling coming in here that we've ever had," said Hart. "The Cowboys were riding high and we had never won here so we turned the negative points into positive points for us."

Cowboy Coach Tom Landry agreed. "We haven't played good for the last three or four weeks and a loss was inevitable," said Landry. "The Cardinals have made things interesting again in the division, particularly with us going to Pittsburgh next week."

Landry sounded like there might be some changes in store for the spluttering Cowboy offense — like rookie Tony Dorsett moving into a starting position.

"We have to use Tony more because he is running good," said Landry.

St. Louis Coach Don Coryell, who had seen his team lose a 30-24 heartbreaker to Dallas on Oct. 9, was euphoric.

"I've never been as happy about a win like I was tonight," said Coryell. "This was a great victory. We wanted it bad."

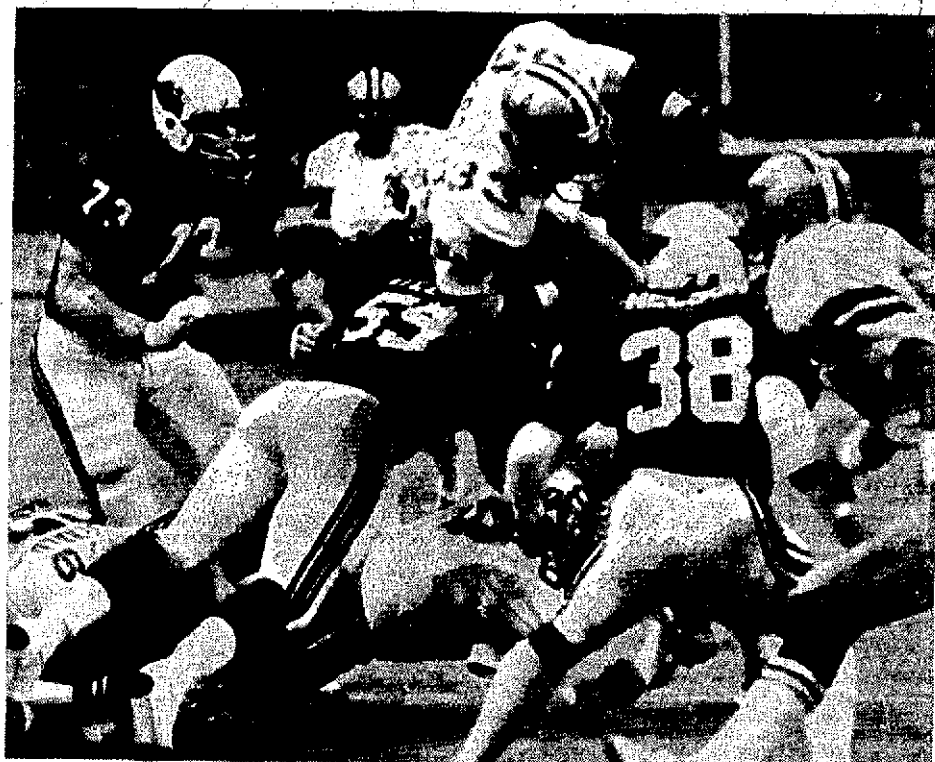

St. Louis intercepted Staubach twice, and the Cowboy quarterback said, "I can't blame my injured hip or thumb. I threw well in practice. We just missed some big third-down plays and when we got up 14-3, I guess we really got too conservative."

The game was a rough-and-tumble affair, with both Barnes of the Cowboys and St. Louis' Lee Nelson being ejected for fighting.

St. Louis halfback Terry Metcalf said "The rest of the season looks good. We were just higher than Dallas. You know they were 8-0 and they weren't up like the first game."

"Beating them down here was great since it was the first time since I've been here that we've done it. We thought we got robbed in the first game."

Landry admitted St. Louis was hungrier. "We were asking for it because we hadn't been playing well," said Landry. And the Cardinals gave "it" to the last of the National Football League's unbeaten teams.

IN GOOD HUMOR

Calm Season For Woody

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Woody Hayes, a self-described mean, old coach, would cringe. One of his long-time assistants says college football's Great General has been pleasant all season.

"He's the calmest, most receptive, easiest to talk to in the 10 years I've known him. He's been great all year," said George Champ, who coaches the quarterbacks for the offensively Ohio State coach.

Hayes showed off some of his good nature Monday during his weekly press luncheon.

Only a huge banner in the room — "Go Bucks, Beat Michigan" — revealed it was the week of the Big Ten's annual Game of the Year. At stake again are the conference's championship and the Rose Bowl bid.

Hayes certainly was no clue.

The 64-year-old disciplinarian smiled often. He posed for photographers three different times, slicing a cake given to him by an Ohio State fan.

And even the most loaded of questions failed to rattle him.

Maybe Hayes discovered the image he was projecting when he said, "If I eat anymore cake like that, I'll be soft."

But on one thing — the closing of practice gates — he was the same old Hayes of 27 Ohio State seasons.

Huckleby, Smith Injuries Could Cause 'M' Trouble

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Ohio State-Michigan football battles often have unanticipated twists, says Bo Schembechler. But the Michigan coach is a little concerned about a couple twists from other games that have created a possible problem for Saturday's clash at Michigan Stadium against the Buckeyes.

The twisting running of tailbacks Harlan Huckleby and Roosevelt Smith have resulted in injuries that could force Schembechler to rely heavily on freshman Stanley Edwards.

Junior Huckleby has been nursing a hamstring pull and hasn't been 100 percent since the Michigan State game, the fifth game of the season.

Superman Smith, his backup and former teammate at Detroit Cass Tech High School, has been hampered by a knee injury.

"The only problem we have to resolve is the physical status of our running backs," Schembechler said Monday. Otherwise, "I feel good going in."

"Since that Michigan State game we've had uncertainty at tailback," he said. "We've got to get production out of our tailbacks. I don't know how that'll go. We didn't have that problem last year."

All-American Rob Lytle, now with the Denver Broncos of the National Football League, was Michigan's first-string tailback last year. Sometimes he'd start at fullback instead of Russell Davis, with Huckleby moving in at tailback.

Huckleby didn't play in Michigan's 40-7 triumph Saturday at Purdue. Smith took his place and scored a touchdown, but Davis was the workhorse with 167 yards in 21 carries.

For the season, Huckleby's 727 yards rushing ranks second behind Davis' 957. Huckleby is averaging 4.8 yards a carry and has scored six touchdowns.

Smith is averaging 5.7 yards, gaining 282. He hardly played until half-way through the season.

Edwards, who started against Northwestern and played well, has rushed for 152 yards, averaging 4.6.

Schembechler didn't directly answer a question about whether his Wolverines are as good going into the Ohio State game as last year's squad, which defeated the Buckeyes 22-0 at Columbus.

"Last year is gone. I don't even think about that game," he told Monday's gathering of some 35 sports writers and broadcasters at a news luncheon. Normally, less than a dozen show up for his weekly gettogether.

Michigan announced its players of the week based on films of the Purdue game. Davis took the offensive honors, with guard Gerry Szara named offensive "hustler." Top defensive player was sophomore linebacker Ron Simpkins, while defensive hustler was safety

Jim Pickens. Wingback Max Richardson was named top kick team player, linebacker David Payne best on the scout team, and fullback John Sandberg the "rookie of the week."

Simpkins is far and away the tackle leader. Of his 138 tackles, 98 have been solo and six far losses. Linebacker Jerry Meter is second with 81 tackles, 60 solo.

John Pont Resigns As Wildcat Coach

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — John Pont says losing 26 of his past 27 games didn't convince him to quit as head football coach at Northwestern, but losing time with his family did.

"It's been seven days a week, 8:15 to 9 months a year," Pont said in an interview Monday night. "I didn't start thinking about that until about four weeks ago."

"The losing did not convince me to resign," he added. "In fact, the losing affected me the opposite way, which is my nature. I sort of like adversity and I react in a positive sense."

"If anything, the fact that we were 0-6 four weeks ago and then 0-7 made me feel, look, forget this other stuff. You're going to make this thing go, slick around, you're going to turn it around."

He'll still have his chance, but not as coach. Pont, 50 and in his 22nd year as a head coach, announced Monday he will end his five-year coaching career here after Saturday's Big Ten finale with Illinois but will stay on as athletic director, a job he took in 1974.

An incident just before the season set him to thinking that he was spending too little time with his wife and three children.

"We had a friend of my son who was a junior in college visit. He was hitchhiking back to the East Coast. He left early in the morning and I was down having a cup of coffee with him and he said, 'Mr. Pont, I hope you don't take offense but back in Lafayette when John starts talking about his parents we think it's a sign of his imagination.'"

'M' Scalping Booming

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Ticket scalping for seats to Saturday's Michigan-Ohio State football showdown is a booming business, police report. Fans are paying $50 to $100 for tickets that normally sell for $4 to $8.

Student bulletin boards are crowded with messages from Wolverine or Buckeye fans wanting to buy tickets, and from those who want to sell them at a big profit.

Ann Arbor Police Chief Walter Krasny said Monday state law makes it illegal to sell tickets for a sporting event at a price higher than originally paid. He said the law is almost impossible to enforce.

Krasny said he has teams of detectives keeping an eye open for the pros — scalpers who make a habit of selling Michigan sporting events tickets for the high dollar.

"If it is blatant (the scalping), then we are bound by law to warn or arrest people," the chief said. "But we are really concerned with the pro who has a whole slew of tickets ready to unload."

The word is out that it would not be wise for any would-be ticket scalpers to stand near the stadium, waving a handful of tickets. Krasny said such lawbreakers could be hit with a $100 fine or 90 days in jail, or both.

Al Renfro of the Wolverine ticket office staff said for the last five years, the U-M has not let private individuals buy blocks of tickets to football games.

In addition, he said, just because a person has a ticket does not guarantee him a seat. He cited the case of a 80-year-old man who bought a scalped ticket and made his way into the section reserved for students.

"If we run into a guy like that whom we know should not be there, we just make certain he does not get a seat," said Renfro.

An Ann Arbor News check on some of the people who sought tickets through its classified columns showed various motives behind the bids.

It said one Columbus, Ohio, manufacturing firm made the offer to Michigan scalpers as a business goodwill measure.

A secretary explained, "We buy them from scalpers and at a price they can not afford to turn down unless they are crazy."

"Then we give them to our business clients and the ones we have left over are sold and never at a loss for what we bought them for. I guess you could say we are second-hand scalpers."

One hopeful who advertised seeking eight tickets told would-be sellers, "Don't call unless reasonable." At last report, his phone was not ringing off the hook.

Hunters Eye Improvement

Southwestern Michigan hunters were looking for improved success during today's opening of the firearm deer season.

The pheasant kill in the just concluded season was way down — 43 per cent at the Allegan State Game Area — and the waterfowl harvest remains low.

The goose kill at the game area through Sunday was down 77 per cent with a total of 1,452 birds taken. The duck count stood at 255, down a whopping 55 per cent from a year ago at this time.

Waterfowl figures could improve though, because the game area flock remains at 14,000, 2,000 more than in 1977 on the same date. The duck tally of 4,500 is way below last year's 15,000 count, but it is possible that the recent cold weather will bring more ducks to the refuge.

A small factor in the lower kill is a hunter turnout running six percent below last year.

The general waterfowl season ends Nov. 25, but goose hunting continues in Allegan through Nov. 30 or until a kill of 2,500 is reached.

On the area fishing scene, the highlight is steelhead angling with spawn on the St. Joseph River below the Berrien Springs dam. The snagging season for salmon is over.

There's a new leader in the steelhead contest at B-J's Sports in St. Joseph. In front with a 15-pound, 11-ounce steelie is Herb McIntosh of Three Rivers.

Outdoor Trail

Big Bird Migration Almost Over

By WALTER BOOTH

Each fall great herds of ducks and geese leave the waterfowl nurseries in Canada and make their way to such favored wintering areas as Chesapeake Bay, coastal Texas, the Sacramento Valley and southern Illinois.

Thousands of these birds travel, some by night, some by day, along the eastern shore of Lake Michigan. The migrating flocks, visible from shore, constitute one of the major ornithological spectacles of this area.

Most of the birds pass through Berrien County between mid-October and mid-November, often carried along by stiff northerly or northwesterly winds.

Scaup, or bluebills, predominate in these flights, but many ring-necked ducks, redheads, wigglers and mergansers accompany the scaup. It is not at all unusual to see on favored days as many as 20,000 birds, all in a few hours. Flight activity generally is confined to the morning.

Heavy migrations this year took place on Oct. 22, when 15,000 to 20,000 birds were estimated. Smaller numbers of ducks passed through also on Oct. 22, Nov. 4 and 5 and possibly on a few other dates.

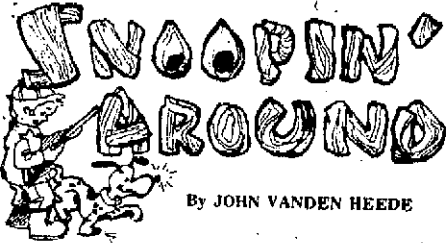

Other items: — Northern flocks, after a virtual absence last fall and winter, staged a major invasion in late October and early November. Pine Siskins (relatives of the goldfinch) have been particularly abundant, and at least 4,000 were estimated in migration along the shore of Lake Michigan. With siskins came many evening grosbeaks, in the delight, perhaps, of bird feeder watchers. The grosbeaks are handsome birds but have a voracious appetite for expensive sunflower seed. — A glaucous gull, from Europe or one of a few North American breeding areas, visited the St. Joseph waterfront on Oct. 14 and Nov. 2, respectively. Both are rare in Michigan. — Whistling swans visited the Twin Cities area in early November.

CROSS COUNTRY SKIING TIME: Sarett Nature Center of Benton Harbor will host a cross country ski program at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 19. It will be a prelude to cross country ski lessons on Jan. 14 and 15. Pictured above is session from last winter's lessons. On Saturday, Carl Baumgras, the cross country ski instructor for Bendix Woods in South Bend, will give a slide presentation on a cross country ski outing in Canada. Also, naturalist and cross country ski instructor Lou Awodey of St. Joseph will demonstrate techniques on skiing and show the basic equipment and proper clothing. The president of the Southwest Michigan Nordic Ski Club, Herb Pollack, will explain activities of his group. The public is invited.

After losing several times in the legislature in bids to eliminate coyote bounty payments, the Department of Natural Resources has come up with a new plan to reduce bounty payments.

The DNR is recommending that bounty claimants be required to turn all marketable pelts over to the department before collecting the bounty.

This, wildlife executive Dave Arnold says, should eliminate payment of bounty on as many as 2,000 coyotes a year. The DNR pays between $50,000 and $60,000 a year in bounties on about 3,500 coyotes.

Because coyote pelts in good condition (generally those taken from mid-September through March) are worth an average of $40 each, and as much as $80, few trappers turn them in for bounty, Arnold explains.

Under the present rules, trappers are allowed to keep bountied coyote pelts.

The Michigan legislature will consider a joint resolution asking for support of a new federal measure designed to resolve the controversy over Indian hunting and fishing rights.

The federal proposal — H.R. 9054 — directs the President "to abrogate all treaties entered into by the United States with Indian tribes in order to accomplish the purposes of recognizing that in the United States no individual or group possesses subordinate or special rights, providing full citizenship and equality under law to Native Americans, protecting an equal opportunity of all citizens to fish and hunt in the United States and terminating federal supervision over the property and members of Indian tribes."

The bill has been referred to the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs. If enacted, it would nullify Indian claims of special or exclusive hunting and fishing rights under 19th Century treaties.

Comments on H.R. 9054 should be addressed to two Michigan congressmen who are members of the committee — Representatives Philip Ruppe (R-Houghton) and Bob Carr (D-East Lansing).

The elimination of the closed season on bass in Michigan is the goal of the Sportsmen's Bass Club of Cassopolis.

It is the contention of its members that Michigan, just like 39 other states, should not restrict bass fishing activities at any particular time of the year.

The club has presented its view to the Department of Natural Resources and is pursuing the question through the Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

Persons interested in being involved in this project can contact the club at Box 92, Cassopolis, Mich. 49031.

Four bills have been introduced in the Michigan legislature which would grant special license fees for certain groups of people. But the proposals also reduce revenues for the Game and Fish Protection Fund, which is already in a budget pinch.

Two bills reduce the qualifying age for cheaper "senior citizen" hunting and fishing licenses from 65 to 62. There is also a recommendation to make hunting licenses issued to persons 65 and older valid for the rest of their lifetimes.

Another measure would reduce hunting license fees for persons totally or permanently disabled.

The Michigan United Conservation Clubs' bid to prevent farmers from obtaining special permits to hunt antlerless deer during the current firearm deer season has been rejected in the Ingham County Circuit Court.

Regulations designed to protect people and the environment from the toxic properties of PBBs (Polybrominated Biphenyls) will be discussed at a public meeting conducted by the United States Environmental Protection Agency in Lansing on Dec. 1.

The public meeting is the beginning of the process to consider options for control of the manufacture, processing, distribution, use and disposal of PBBs. EPA was given the authority under the Toxic Substances Control Act of Oct. 11, 1977 to begin this action when there is a reasonable basis to conclude that the substance presents a health risk.

Persons who wish to attend or make a presentation at the meeting should write or call Joni T. Respass, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Office of Toxic Substances (WH-557), 401 M Street SW, Washington, D.C. 20460. Phone (202) 426-9000 or (202) 736-5482.

The Lansing meeting will be at 9:30 a.m. Dec. 1 at the Olds Plaza Hotel, 125 West Michigan.

Successful deer hunters can obtain a 1977 Successful Michigan Deer Hunter shoulder patch by bringing their whitetail to Department of Natural Resources checking stations at the district office in Plainwell and at the headquarter offices of the Allegan and Barry State Game Areas.

Public Attitudes On Wildlife, Natural Areas Studied

A comprehensive study of the American public's attitudes toward wildlife and natural areas will be conducted by Yale University under a grant awarded by the Interior Department's U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

"This is a bold new step for the Fish and Wildlife Service," Director Lynn A. Greenwalt says. "Never before have we undertaken such a large scale effort to determine the human dimension that affects wildlife management. The results of this investigation will help us to promote greater citizen participation in the decision-making process and in our future plans to manage wildlife for the benefit of all Americans."

Dr. Stephen Kellert, a senior research associate at Yale's School of Forestry and Environmental Studies, will serve as principal investigator of the three-year study. He is one of the nation's foremost authorities on public attitudes toward wildlife. His research, much of which has been sponsored by the Service, is generally regarded as the most definitive work in date on the factors that influence how people perceive and are likely to behave toward wildlife.

"Most conservationists are already aware that for many species and for many areas of the country, we can no longer simply 'leave it to nature' to assure that wildlife will survive and do well in this country," Greenwalt says. "Man has already intervened with his cities, agriculture, pollution, recreation and a host of other activities. And he must continue to intervene to ensure that those species and natural areas will be preserved for generations to come. This is a basic tenet of sound wildlife management."

"Knowledge of human activities and perceptions about wildlife and their habitat can be just as valuable to wildlife management practices as is the latest waterfowl population census or the number of acres of wetlands drained each year."

"This knowledge will fill a serious information void. It will greatly improve our understanding of the many important changes taking place in the constituency of the Fish and Wildlife Service and how those changes are likely to influence policy and the way we allocate resources to solve wildlife management problems."

Preliminary results of the study are expected by June, 1979. The study will focus on the results of data collected from personal interviews with 3,000 randomly-selected Americans — 2,700 over age 18 and 300 under age 18.

Major areas of investigation include: — Trends and significant changes in American attitudes toward wildlife at the national and regional levels and the implications for species not hunted or fished.

— The size, distribution, social characteristics and attitudes of key wildlife interest groups, such as birdwatchers, backpackers, trappers and hunters.

— Public perceptions of crucial issues affecting wildlife and their natural habitat (e.g., concern about endangered species, preservation of wetlands and other fragile habitats, the impact on wildlife of energy exploration and development).

— The identification of critical stages in the development of young people's attitudes toward wildlife and the implications for environmental education.

— Aesthetic and symbolic values attached to wildlife.

— The extent to which factors, such as education, occupation, place of birth and present residence (urban vs. rural), influence attitudes toward wildlife.

— The identification of appropriate ways to improve cooperation between hunters and non-hunters to protect wildlife and natural habitat.

Several of the key features of the study — non-game wildlife, endangered species and habitat preservation — were part of President Carter's Message to Congress on the Environment (May 23, 1977).

In addition to being extremely helpful to the Interior Department, the data from the study is expected to be useful to local park and planning commissions, state fish and wildlife agencies, educational institutions and conservation organizations.

To ensure that the study results are valid and useful to wildlife professionals, the Service has established an informal advisory committee composed of leading conservationists and private citizens who have volunteered their time to assist in the development of the study.

Among the organizations represented on the committee are the Environmental Defense Fund, International Council for Bird Preservation, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, New York Zoological Society, AFL-CIO, International Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies, Humane Society of the United States, National Wildlife Federation and the League of Women Voters.

Gull Lake Public Access Site Approved

The Natural Resources Commission, at its November meeting, approved the efforts of the state's Waterways Commission to secure an option to buy property on Gull Lake for use as a public access site.

Gull Lake, in Barry and Kalamazoo Counties, has 2,650 acres of water surface area with 10.8 miles of shoreline. It is the second largest island lake in southern Lower Michigan, second only to Gun Lake, but is accessibility by the general public has been minimal until now, according to the Department of Natural Resources.

The only public boating access to the lake is at the Prairieville Township site, which has parking for 29 car-trailer and eight car-only units.

Before the Commission voted on the subject, DNR Director Howard A. Tanner emphasized the importance of the decision.

"This decision will impact on our total access program," he said. "This question is going to face us numerous times. The change in parking spaces will not degrade Gull Lake, in my opinion. The question is sociological — how people interact on this lake."

The Commission voted 5-2 to approve the efforts of the Waterways Commission to purchase the site. The property is adjacent to the Prairieville Township site and would accommodate 45 car-trailer and 12 car-only units.

CLIP AND SAVE HUNTING SAFETY RULES:

1. Treat every gun, loaded or unloaded, with due respect when handling, transporting or storing.
2. Always be sure that action and barrel are clear of obstructions, and that ammunition of the proper size is being used.
3. Always keep chamber empty or on safety until you are ready to shoot.
4. Be sure of your target before you fire; account yourself with your intended game's features.
5. Don't climb a fence or tree or jump a ditch with a loaded gun. Keep muzzle pointed away from yourself and others, and pointed up in the air.
6. Drink and live ammo don't mix. Avoid alcoholic beverages before and during the hunt.
7. Pre-plan your hunting agenda and area movements so that you and your companions are well in each other's line of fire.
8. Never target practice without proper backstop; never shoot a flat surface or water's surface, as bullets can ricochet.
9. Wear the prescribed safety hunting color for your area, make sure the color covers not less than 30% of your body.
10. Respect all posted property; do not hunt private land without permission.
11. Guns should always be unloaded when not in use.
12. Keep guns and ammunition away from the reach of small children and careless adults.

River Valley Considers Lighting Of Parking Lot

THREE OAKS — The possibility of lighting the high school parking lot was discussed by the River Valley School Board here Monday night.

Dr. Charles Williams, superintendent, said a representative of Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., would check out the site Wednesday and give a cost estimate for adequately lighting the parking area.

Dr. Williams said each light would cost between $9.50 and $15 per month. It is not known at this time how many lights would be required.

In other areas, the board said it would work with local police agencies in an effort to crack

Ceiling Work Is Let At Fennville School

FENNVILLE — The Fennville School Board Monday night accepted the low bid of $4,049 from Sluiter Plastering Co. of Zeeland for installation of new ceilings in six elementary classrooms.

The work is to be done over Christmas vacation, school officials said.

The board also approved spending $900 to have Thomas Heinhardt Associates of Kalamazoo revamp the school's telephone intercom system.

Bridgman Schools Accept Bids For Two New Buses

BRIDGMAN — The Bridgman School Board Monday night accepted bids for the purchase of two buses, one a 60-seat bus and the other a 35-seat bus.

Successful bidder for the bodies of both buses was Hockstra Truck Equipment Co. of Grand Rapids with its combined low bid of $15,000 for both. The company's bid was the lowest of three submitted.

The bids of Jim Hall Ford of Three Oaks on the chassis were accepted by the board. The firm's bid was $10,834 for the 60-seat bus and $8,712 for the 35 seater.

The Hall bid was $236 over the low bidder, Ashley Ford of Benton Harbor, but the board accepted the Hall bid on the recommendation of the school's bus maintenance man.

In other action, the board borrowed $215,000 from Farmers and Merchants National Bank of Benton Harbor at an interest rate of 3.61 percent.

The bank's bid was the lowest of bids submitted by five banks. The school is borrowing money until local tax revenues begin coming in.

Dale Reuss, the school's bus director, appeared before the board to present the school's bus curriculum for study.

He said that in band programs, there are 41 fifth graders and 33 sixth graders participating; 40 seventh and eighth graders at the middle school level; and 51 in high school.

He also announced the high school band has been invited to participate in the Festival of Nations in Washington, D.C., April 30-23.

The invitation was based upon a recording of a band performance sent festival officials, Reuss said.

Abortion Law Upheld, But Doctor Is Cleared

DETROIT (AP) — A judge here has upheld the constitutionality of Michigan's abortion law but has dismissed charges against a doctor accused of illegally inducing an abortion.

Recorder's Court Judge John Hausner said Monday the state failed to prove its case against Dr. Joseph Rucker, accused of trying to induce an abortion in a 16-year-old girl last January when she was about six months pregnant.

Hausner dismissed the charges "without prejudice," meaning the state can refile them. Wayne County Prosecutor William Calahan said he would do so.

The girl later gave birth to a baby girl with a portion of her scalp missing. Rucker said he was only trying to examine the girl and made no attempt to perform an abortion.

Rucker's attorney had asked for dismissal on the grounds that Michigan's abortion statute was unconstitutional and that the charges were incomplete because they did not say whether the fetus could have lived outside the womb.

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that states can regulate, but not prohibit, abortions up to the point when the fetus is "viable," or can live outside the womb with or without assistance. Michigan law says an abortion is illegal if performed on a viable fetus after the first three months of pregnancy.

To prove its case against Rucker, Hausner said, the state would have to prove that the fetus was not viable.

Recreation Use Urged For Watervliet Airport Tract

WATERVLIET — Some 800,000 square feet of unused township-owned property near the airport here should be put to use for recreational facilities, Watervliet Township Supervisor William Gaines said Monday night.

In comments made during the township board meeting, Gaines said that some of the approximately 20 acres of land could be used for tennis courts, snowmobile runs and an ice skating rink.

He added that the Watervliet Recreation Council should get together with the airport board to discuss better use of the lands at the airport located just off M-140.

Board discussion of recreational facilities started when it took under consideration a request for at least a $1,000 appropriation for the recreational council.

The appropriation request was tabled for further study. The council got $1,000 last year. In other areas, the board voted to have the Berrien County Road Commission do street and drainage work on Cherry, Elm and Chestnut streets at a cost of $19,300.

Lawrence Strouse, a fire and ambulance board member, reported there have been 58 fire calls so far this year in the city and township. There were 72 last year at this time, he told the township board.

The board approved the request of Chet Aspergren to split Lot 48 of Verlynda Lane in Aspergren subdivision.

School Costs Exceed Budget At Watervliet

WATERVLIET — An audit report accepted by the Watervliet School Board Monday night showed the district spent more than it took in in the 1976-77 school year.

According to figures from George Sharpe, Benton Harbor, the school's auditor, spending was $32,000 more than the school's $2,020,320 budget. That amount was made up through the district's fund equity with a resultant drop in the equity.

School officials said a similar situation occurred the previous school year also.

Michael Williamson, administrative assistant, attributed the over-expenditure to an $8,000 reduction in inventory, $1,000 in uncollectable revenues, $3,000 in school bus depreciation and the remaining $15,000 to excess spending in various school programs.

Superintendent Samuel

Gravitt said the board has made serious cuts in programs for this year due to the district's low fund equity, reported at $146,491.

Included in the equity are $21,000 for buses, $80,000 in consumable inventory and the rest in actual cash.

Williamson added that the board has made a "valiant effort to keep tight control on the budget and still offer a good program, but for two years in a row we've been short one to two mills" to support the budget.

He said one mill in the district's budget was worth about $30,000 in local property tax revenue and another $35,000 in state aid.

Voters have twice this year turned down school requests for extra millage to help finance school programs.

In other areas, the board heard a report from Williamson that the GAF Corp., through Finner Roofing and Sheet Metal Co., would make repairs to the high school auditorium foyer roof in the amount of $700.

They Dig Buried Pleasure

MCLESTER, Okla. (AP) — Authorities thought they'd gotten rid of 300 tons of marijuana when they burned and buried the grass. They were wrong. The pit where the pot was buried several months ago has become a source for local users, says Pittsburg County Sheriff J.B. Orr.

Authorities tried to keep the location secret, but a newspaper learned of the marijuana burning and printed a picture of it — along with an approximate location of the site. Although the marijuana was soaked in diesel oil and set afire, the remains have attracted attention.

Officers staked out the site last weekend and arrested two teen-age boys who spent several hours digging up 300 pounds of marijuana. Most of the original 300 tons was confiscated from an airplane that landed at Ardmore, Okla.

Galien Seeking Sewer Inspector

GALIEN — The Galien Village Council Monday night agreed to begin taking applications for a village sewer inspector to be hired under the county CETA program.

In related action, the council voted to apply for a $5,000 federal Environmental Protection Agency grant for the construction of a storage garage for sewer equipment.

Applicants for the sewer inspector position will be asked to attend a special meeting of the council Nov. 21 to discuss the duties of the sewer inspector. According to the council, the individual hired will be trained in the operation of the sewer system.

The village is in the process of constructing a $1.3 million sewage disposal system. The village engineers, Wrightman and Associates, St. Joseph, reported at the meeting that the system is 34 percent complete.

Also in sewer-related discussion, the council indicated that sewer cleanout accesses are required under a state plumbing code. That came in response to a question. According to the council, however, no sewer use ordinance has been approved regarding the cleanouts or the type of sewer pipe required from main sewer lines into homes.

New Site Aids Tests Of Hearing

BUCHANAN — Hearing tests for elementary school students here are being conducted this week in a motor home provided by Kennedy Motors, Inc., of Buchanan, according to Sue Wiggins, school nurse.

Mrs. Wiggins said the motor home is helpful in the tests because students can be removed from classrooms, where the tests are normally conducted, to the relatively noise-free motor home. She said use of the motor home, a first for schools in the area, reduces outside noises which might adversely affect the tests.

The hearing tests, along with vision tests, are being conducted this week for all Buchanan students in grades pre-school, kindergarten, second and fourth, Mrs. Wiggins said.

COMMISSION CHANGES MIND

Coloma Rezoning Okayed

COLOMA — The Coloma City Commission Monday night approved a rezoning request denied originally Oct. 10.

Acting as the city's zoning appeals board, the commission approved the rezoning property at 460 Paw Paw St., from residential to multi-family use.

The approval clears the way for owner Jerry Sirk, 5561 Paw Paw Lake Road, Coloma, to remodel the structure into seven apartments.

The commission on Oct. 10 rejected the request by one vote, triggering an appeal by Sirk, to the appeals board.

Objections to the rezoning were filed in writing by area residents last night, similar to objections voiced during the original hearing. The objections were that the change was spot zoning; there are already enough apartments in the city; and the apartments would lower property values.

Commissioner Eugene Baker abstained from voting on the issue since he was just recently elected to the commission and took his seat Monday night.

Commissioners voting in favor of the rezoning were: Mrs. Wanda Noack, Robert Wooley, Harold Hammond, Norman Carrothers, William Weybright, and Mayor Glenn Randall.

In other areas, Mayor Randall announced appointments for the 1977-78 committee posts.

Named to the various committees, with the first person named to be chairman were: Finance: Weybright, Mrs. Noack, Baker; Public Works: Wooley, Baker, Mrs. Noack; Police: Hammond, Carrothers, Baker; Insurance: Mrs. Noack, Weybright, Hammond; Fire: Wooley, Baker, and Carrothers.

Other appointments, Cemetery: Carrothers, Ralph Dewey; Paw Paw Lake Sewage Disposal Board: Weybright, Martin Quidey; Parks: Baker, Wooley, Carrothers; Gladiolus Festival: Wooley, Baker.

Completing the appointments, Street Administrator: Mrs. Noack; Street lights and building maintenance: Carrothers; legislative representative: Wooley; and Public Works Administrator (formerly coordinator) James Noack, nephew of Mrs. Noack.

In other commission action, approval was granted to transfer a Class C liquor license from Mr. and Mrs. Leroy (Genevieve) Hiler to Mr. and Mrs. John (Kathleen) A. Sandmann at 228 Paw Paw St., known as the Pour House.

The commission referred to the city attorney a request involving conditional rezoning of a site for a proposed 48-unit apartment development. The rezoning was granted in August, 1975, on condition that work on the project would begin in a year.

The request was to extend the time condition because of a challenge filed against the rezoning in Berrien County Circuit Court. The case is still pending, blocking work. The request for the extension was filed by attorney Seymour Zaban, St. Joseph, for owners of the property on the west side of South Church Street.

Under the rezoning, the property was to be changed from residential to multi-family use.

During a hearing to determine how the city's $7,924 in federal anti-recession funds would be spent, the commission voted to use the funds for purchasing expendable water department supplies.

The commission approved splitting a large lot located at the corner of Center and Harriet streets into two lots as requested by Joseph Passarello of St. Joseph.

The commission adopted the Michigan Electrical Code with the code to become effective 20 days after passage.

The commission approved holding an open house at the Coloma city garage, Sunday, Nov. 20, to let city residents view city owned equipment.

Mayor Randall commended Mrs. Barbara Carrothers and her committee for the successful community Halloween party held last month.

The commission signed a contract with the state highway department for new regulatory signs in the city. The city's cost of the overall $18,400 program will amount to $5,000.

REZONING APPROVED: Previously rejected rezoning of this property in Coloma was approved Monday night by city's zoning appeals board. Action clears way for conversion of house into apartment building. Property is located at 460 Paw Paw St. (Cliff Stevens photo)

State Policeman Named To Coloma School Board

COLOMA — Jerry Hyland, a state police sergeant, was appointed to the Coloma School Board Monday night to fill a vacancy.

Hyland, 40, was appointed by the board to serve until the June, 1978, election in place of Dean Mohney, who resigned the office last month. Hyland is a 15-year veteran of the state police force and is assigned to the Benton Harbor post.

Hyland and his wife, Joanne, have five children and have lived in the area since 1970.

In other areas, the board approved having the City of Coloma salt seven school driveways when needed during the winter at a cost of $8 per salting.

The board accepted the resignation of Gerald Geik, head of the career development program, effective Dec. 2, and named Lee Downey to succeed him. Geik is leaving to accept a position in the Kalamazoo Valley Intermediate School District. Downey has been assistant to Geik.

The board approved allowing the Coloma Gladiolus Festival to use the school auditorium for the Miss Coloma queen contest on Saturday, Feb. 4.

The board approved a new policy prohibiting snowmobiles, motorcycles, and all off road recreational vehicles from using all school property.

The board approved the purchase of a special education car to transport students to special classes at Stump School.

Lester Elwell, the school district's social worker, reported 75 students have been referred to him since he began his duties at the beginning of the 1977-78 school year. Of the total, 23 involved parent-child relationship problems and 14 were for child abuse-neglect problems.

The board appointed three board members, Richard Eastman, Hyland, and Edward Messal to meet with Elwell to learn additional facts about the types of problems students are experiencing.

The board approved advertising for bids to sell three buses and a salt spreader no longer used by the school system.

Clark reported he has been unsuccessful getting free autos for use in the school's driver education courses although he had contacted 10 new car dealers.

Clark reported the school may have to purchase the vehicles this year.

The board approved paying $140 as its share to pave a driveway apron at the middle school parking lot off Red Arrow Highway. The balance of $120 will be paid by the city of Coloma.

The board gave Clark permission to seek costs for extending its present three-year insurance package for one year with the present insurance carrier.

The purchase of an electric paper cutter and waxer for vocational classes was approved by the board at a cost not to exceed $1,382.

Clark reported six windows were broken in the Coloma Middle School during a Nov. 5 break-in at the school.

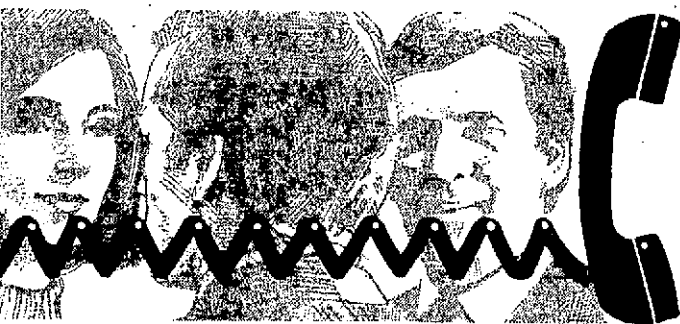

According to Clark, nothing was taken in the break-in.

No matter what we do to help keep your electric bill in line, there's one thing we have no power over.

The amount of power you use. So we'd like to point out the most significant places where only you have the biggest opportunities to save.

Insulation

6 to 12 inches of insulation in your attic could save you real money each year. You'll save even more if you insulate your walls, heating ducts and hot water pipes.

Caulking, weatherstripping, storm windows, shades and drapes also help keep heat inside in winter, and outside in summer.

Thermostat Control

Lower your thermostat in winter. Each degree below 68°F can save three percent of the energy needed for heating. If you have air conditioning, a higher thermostat setting will also save energy in summer.

Hot Water Use

You can save up to 5% a year of the energy needed to heat water if you turn your water heater thermostat down to 120 degrees and take quick showers instead of baths.

Fix leaky hot water faucets promptly. And wash clothes in cold water, if you can. Washing and drying only full loads of clothes and dishes is more economical, too.

Appliance Efficiency

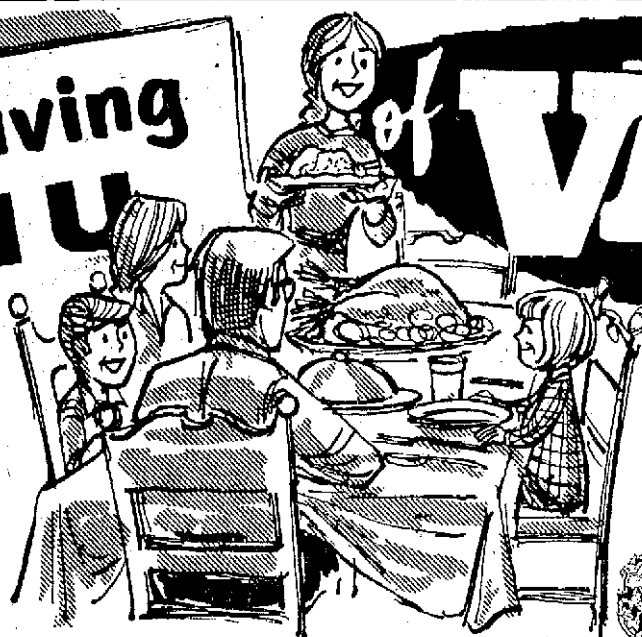

If you're in the market for appliances and equipment, look for the new energy saving features on refrigerators, freezers, and dishwashers. Choose an Energy Efficiency Ratio (EER) of 8 or higher on room air conditioners.

While there are a lot more ways to save electricity, these are the ones that will make the biggest impression on your bill.

Truck Wash Bandit Sentenced

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

James Stephen Townsend, 18, was sentenced Monday in Berrien Circuit Court to three concurrent prison terms, two of them for up to 50 years, for armed robbery and a probation violation.

Judge Julian E. Hughes sentenced Townsend to 25 to 50-year terms for two armed robbery convictions, and then imposed a 6 to 10-year prison sentence for a probation violation stemming from the armed robbery convictions.

The judge said Townsend will have to serve at least 10 years in confinement before becoming eligible for parole.

Townsend, of 635 Gestner Road, Benton Township, was convicted by a jury of two counts of armed robbery in the July 26 holding of Ruby's Truck Wash near Sawyer.

He was convicted of using a .22-caliber handgun to rob Tony Motyka of $5,206 and Michael Clark of a hillfold. Motyka is manager of the facility and Clark an attendant. During the robbery, another employee, Phillip Naumann, 19, was shot in the arm by Townsend, a witness testified during the trial. Naumann has since recovered and no charges were filed in connection with the shooting.

Before the sentence was imposed, Townsend told Hughes: "I feel I had the most unfair trial ever held in this courthouse."

Hughes last December placed Townsend on five years probation for breaking into a Benton Township home with two accomplices and stealing $20,000. Yesterday, the judge noted: "It was with some reservation that I placed you on probation."

"I gave you an opportunity to earn respectability if you did it my way. Had you completed probation (which included an order for restitution) you would have been guaranteed success."

"However, you willingly and repeatedly violated not only the spirit of probation but the actual terms. Doing it your way has dictated a prison sentence. Despite your age, in criminal matters you act with maturity."

A co-defendant, James P. Davis, 30, also of Benton Township, is awaiting trial on the same two charges of armed robbery from the truck wash holdup. A third man, James Hudson, who testified against Townsend, was also charged with armed robbery, but the prosecutor's office said that those charges would be dismissed in exchange for testimony and Hudson will be allowed to plead guilty to a lesser charge.

Boston Mayor Makes Apology

BOSTON (AP) — Mayor Kevin White visited a hospital emergency room to personally apologize to visiting black students who were beaten by club-wielding white men at historic Bunker Hill.

"I apologize for the city," White told reporters Monday. "It will be a scar on their minds. It will be a scar on the city."

The 12 black youngsters, aged 15 to 19, and their two adult leaders had little to say as they waited to regroup in the hospital lobby.

"This is Boston," said a girl who refused to give her name. "We don't have this problem where I'm from — Tucson, Arizona."

The incident occurred in the city's Charlestown section, at the foot of the Bunker Hill Monument, a Revolutionary War memorial.

Arrested and charged with five counts of assault and battery with a dangerous weapon were Vincent Tamburello, 23, and Daniel Krystyn, 20, of Charlestown, and Kenneth Laudenslager, 26, of Salem, police said.

Krystyn, arrested Monday night, was held for arraignment today.

Tamburello and Laudenslager, arrested shortly after the attack, pleaded innocent. Tamburello was held in lieu of $5,000 bond; Laudenslager was released on $5,000 personal recognizance bond, police said.

White immediately suspended Tamburello, who is employed as a physical education instructor under a city-directed, federally-funded program, pending the outcome of his trial.

The black group had just visited Bunker Hill as part of an educational trip they were making here from their religious boarding school, the Pine Forge Academy near Reading, Pa.

"We didn't say a thing. It all happened so fast. They came at us, and I don't know why," said Miriam Battles, the wife of a history teacher who suffered head injuries in the attack.

She and the students said they were members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, and did not fight back because they are non-violent. "We are non-combative," said Mrs. Battles.

"We turn the other cheek," said one of the students, John Jones, 19, of Riverside, Calif.

It's not certain how many whites attacked the youngsters. The victims claimed there were five, maybe six. "I think they did it for kicks," said Jones, "except for the leader. He did it out of hatred. I could tell."

White, who visited privately with the students as they were treated, said, "We still have a virus here, and that virus is ugly. And that virus keeps acting up."

Injured were Mark Washington, 16, of Pittsburgh; teacher Charles Battles, 25, of near Pittstown, Pa.; Samuel Perry, 16, of New Bern, N.C.; Fred Walters, 15, of Pine Forge, Pa., and Jones.

Guard Ordered To Stand Trial

Jeffrey Sunday, 20, charged with arson at the Hoover-Ugine plant near Bridgman July 23 while he was on duty as a Pinkerton security guard, yesterday was ruled competent to stand trial.

Berrien Circuit Judge William S. White made the ruling on the basis of a report from Richard I. Sternberg, a certified forensic examiner at the Center for Forensic Psychiatry in Ypsilanti.

"It is the opinion of this examiner that the defendant meets the criteria for being adjudicated competent to stand trial at this time," Sternberg wrote in a report to the judge. White in September had ordered that Sunday undergo evaluation at the center.

The prosecutor's office said no date has yet been set for trial and Sunday, of 311 North Mechanic St., Berrien Springs, was continued free on $5,000 bond.

Sunday has pleaded innocent to the charge, which carries a maximum sentence of 10 years imprisonment.

Sunday, a Lake Michigan College law enforcement student when arrested, was taken into custody by state police from the Benton Harbor post three weeks after the fire, which caused millions in damage.

The fire was reported to the Lake Township Fire Department by Sunday, according to police, and officers said he reported another nearby fire the month before. The blaze at the Hoover-Ugine plant is believed to have started among some foam car seat padding stored in the structure.

Hoover-Ugine stopped production at the plant last year, and it was being used as a warehouse.

Judge Tells 3-Job Man To Sleep More

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Berrien Circuit Judge Zee S. Burkholz yesterday sentenced a Benton township man to two years probation. And, as part of the probation, the judge recommended he get at least seven hours sleep a night. Sentenced for carrying a concealed weapon in a car was Matthew B. Robinson, 35, of 127 North Shore Drive. He was also ordered to pay fine and costs of $500 and spend three weekends in jail. He was charged with carrying a .22-caliber Derringer in Benton Harbor on July 17.

The judge said Robinson has been working three jobs at the same time, and called him a "workaholic." "You've got to take the time to smell the flowers," she told Robinson. She also said she suspected the reason Robinson was "tense" was because of a lack of sleep. So, as the final condition of probation, she ordered him to be in his residence "daily for a minimum of seven hours, none of which shall be used for employment pursuits, and all of which this judge highly recommends be used for sleeping purposes."

Berrien District Court Asked For 8 Hearings

Eight persons demanded preliminary examinations and 14 were sentenced for misdemeanors in Berrien Fifth District Court Saturday and Monday.

John L. Haywood, 22, of 1049 Colfax Ave., Benton Harbor, demanded a hearing on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, a gun, against Otis Parker, Oct. 28 in Benton Harbor. Bond was set at $5,000.

Cynthia Jones, 17, of 740 Manitou Road, St. Joseph Township, demanded examination on a charge of embezzlement at Ron's Market, 4031 S. M-139, Scottsdale, State police of the Benton Harbor post reported she had been employed as a checkout clerk at the store where the owners reported $2,263 missing in the past two months. She was released on $1,000 bond.

Aaron C. Wells, 20, of 775 McAllister Ave., Benton Harbor, and Ray A. Gonzales, 22, of 2498 Crawford Drive, Benton Township, demanded preliminary hearings on charges of larceny in a building. They are accused of stealing pants and shirts from the Belmont Family Center Nov. 10. Their bonds were set at $5,000. Gonzales was also sentenced to 15 days in jail for assault and battery against Homer Clark at the store Nov. 10.

Johnny Lee Murphy, 27, of 604 Clay St., Benton Harbor, and Richard B. Brogan Jr., 26, of 1734 Roberts Ave., Benton Township, demanded examinations on charges of larceny in a building — Bilton & Bilton Excavating, Benton Township. The alleged theft of a wallet and money belonging to Mary Simpson occurred Nov. 10. Murphy's bond was $7,500; Brogan's was $2,000.

Jeffrey L. Griffin, 20, of 603 W. Fourth St., apartment 12, Buchanan, demanded a hearing on a charge of larceny in a building. He is accused of stealing brass wire from Essex Wire, Berrien Springs, Nov. 2. His bail was $2,000.

Robert L. Goyer, 30, of 215 E. Main St., Hartford, asked for a hearing on a charge of writing a no account check for $23 at Belmont Family Center Aug. 14. He was also sentenced to 60 days in jail for defrauding the innkeeper of food and lodging payments at the St. Joseph Holiday Inn Aug. 14.

Douglas D. Shivers, 17, of 2132 Lawrence Drive, Benton Township, was sentenced to pay fine and costs of $70 and make restitution for malicious destruction to property valued under $100, a house in the Attack With Hoe Leads To Prison

Two men were sentenced to prison terms yesterday in Berrien Circuit Court, including one who assaulted his estranged wife with a garden hoe.

Judge Chester J. Byrns sentenced Arthur Lee Cannon Jr., 25, of 2024 Territorial Road, Benton Township, to 4 to 10 years in prison for assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder.

Cannon was accused of assaulting his estranged wife, Eva, with a hoe Sept. 29 at her residence, 228 Bantam St., Benton Township. Charges of assault with intent to murder and child larceny, allegedly assaulting his wife's two-year-old son and choking the boy with the hoe, were dismissed.

Judge Zee S. Burkholz imposed a 2½- to 4-year prison term on Gary Lee Williams, 22, of 465 S. Fair Ave., Benton Harbor, for larceny in a building. Williams on Sept. 18 stole a coin box from a washing machine at Shady Acres Trailer Park, Benton Township.

In an arraignment before Judge Burkholz, Odys Ray Harris, 23, of Benton Harbor, pleaded innocent to a charge of open murder. He is charged with killing Kenneth Hughes outside the East End Bar in Benton Township on Oct. 26.

Mark West, 21, of 306 S. 15th St., Niles, pleaded guilty before Byrns to distribution of marijuana without remuneration March 11 in Niles.

Lung Cancer Up In Women

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An advertising slogan tells female smokers. "You've come a long way, baby." But one researcher says any equality smoking women gain with men is in the lung cancer statistics.

Dr. Paul Stolley, professor of research medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, said the death rate for lung cancer in American females doubled between 1965 and 1974.

Indiana Driver Sentenced

An Indiana man was sentenced yesterday in Berrien Circuit Court to three years probation for negligent homicide in the death of a 16-year-old girl Aug. 7, 1976.

Sentenced by Judge Zee S. Burkholz was Jeffrey T. Gebert, 20, of Chesterton. He was charged as the driver of a car which went out of control on Hudson Lake Road in Gallien Township and crashed into some trees, killing a passenger in the car, Sherry Strange, also of Chesterton.

Judge Burkholz also ordered Gebert not to drive without permission of the court. He also was ordered to spend the last six months of probation in jail, but the judge said that could be waived if he complies with probation terms.

Union Is Mum On Boeing Pact

SEATTLE (AP) — Union leaders are staying mum about a tentative contract with Boeing, leaving the decision whether to end a six-week strike against the world's largest aircraft maker up to the 24,000 machinists most affected by their own walkout.

The machinists have lost almost $1 million a day in wages.

"The people have sacrificed a lot and I'm sure they don't want to settle for crumbs," said Don Clemens, administrative assistant at the Puget Sound district of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers.

Highway Policy Studied

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Highway Commission would shift gears from new highway construction to rehabilitation of old ones under a plan it will consider this week. The proposal, altering and updating a blueprint for highway development approved by the commission three years ago, reflects a revised approach to roads in the state. John P. Woodford, director of the Department of State Highways and Transportation, said Monday the revisions shift emphasis from development of new highways to management of old ones. Although the previous plan shows general corridors for many new highways, the revised plan includes only development approved by the commission, designed by the Legislature or included in already-passed transportation and land use plans. Major changes in the proposal include eliminating a freeway and highway extension in Oakland County.

HOW TO COMBAT STRESS!

Here are some helpful rules to cope with a problem we all encounter at one time or another—stress. First relax. It is likely that you will adapt to most stresses anyhow so why get "worked up." Second, try to look at the situation favorably and convince yourself that the source of the stress is useful or necessary.

Try to make your environment more predictable. Stress is easier to handle when you know it might be coming. At the same time, try to arrange situations so you have the possibility of controlling the stress. All this can help make a stressful world more liveable and pleasant.

EX-CETA WORKER APPEALS

Hartford Units Face Job Hearing

HARTFORD — The Hartford City Council and Hartford Township Board agreed Monday night to have city attorneys represent both at an unemployment compensation hearing for a former Hartford Public Library employee.

The hearing is scheduled Nov. 23 in South Haven for Angela Slair who is appealing a Michigan Employment Security Commission ruling denying her unemployment compensation.

According to the council, she claims in her appeal that she was forced to quit because of "supervisor harassment." The supervisor was identified as Mrs. Abine Cunningham, head librarian.

The MESC denial was based on her voluntarily leaving the position, a CETA-funded job, according to the council.

Agreement on using city attorneys in the case came when township board members attended the regular city council session.

Both the city and township are involved because funding for the city-based library comes from both governmental units and the MESC claims both would be liable for unemployment compensation if the original MESC decision is reversed.

In other city council action, the Hartford law firm of Oids, Sievers, Mackinder and Duntun, were directed to work with Hartford Township attorneys in setting up the sale of property owned jointly by the city and township.

The property, a 45 by 90 foot piece is the site of the former city-township hall on Main Street. The hall was destroyed by fire five years ago.

Four bids for a tractor with mower, snowblower and leaf vacuum were referred to the council's public works committee for further study. The bids ranged from $2,894 to $3,987.

The council asked its engineering firm, Wightman and Associates, to determine if a utility building being financed by a federal Environmental Protection Agency grant can be located at the site of the public works maintenance garage rather than at the site of the new sewage treatment plant.

The firm said the building is estimated to cost $30,000, for which the city would pay 20 percent.

The council agreed to meet jointly with the Hartford Township Board and the Hartford Fire and Ambulance Board Dec. 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the fire hall to discuss the fire and ambulance budget for 1978.

Hartford Alters Discipline Plan

HARTFORD — The Hartford School Board Monday night voted to have the school's athletic handbook revised.

A major revision will be changing the makeup of the committee which hands out discipline to students guilty of school rule infractions, school officials said.

High School Principal Richard Giordano's recommendation that the two school board members and administrator on the committee be replaced by the athletic director and three coaches was approved by the board.

Giordano maintained that board members should be part of the appeals process rather than members of the primary committee.

voted to hire four teacher aides to help lower the teacher-student ratio in the second and fifth grades at both elementary schools.

The measure was approved in a 5-2 vote with board Trustees Roger Duncanson and Steven Shafer voting against it.

Shafer said he preferred hiring certified teachers to handle the excess students.

Voting for the motion were Trustees William Austin, James Keech, Marion Toney, Tom Smith and Barry Nilson.

The board also approved a $9,000 athletic budget for this school year. The new one is down $2,000 from the 1976-77 athletic budget.

Superintendent Gary Waterkamp was given authority to develop plans and building specifications for improving the lighting in the central board offices.

Final handbook revisions must be approved by the board.

Paw Paw Firm Awarded Hartford Township Job

HARTFORD — The Hartford Township Board in a special meeting Monday night waived some bidding instructions and awarded the general contract for construction of a township hall to a Paw Paw firm.

Awarded a $148,909 contract was Yarbrough General Contractor, Inc., Paw Paw. The firm's bid was the lowest of five competing bids opened by the township board last Thursday.

In accepting the Yarbrough bid, the township board voted to waive requirements that bids be accompanied by proof of the contractor's insurability.

Yarbrough another $2,410 contract for paving 600 feet of Cemetery Road.

The board did not award a contract last Thursday because of allegations that the bidding was "highly irregular."

Larry McClanahan of McClanahan Construction Co. of Waterford, alleged that he was being penalized because he was following all of the bidding instructions while other bidders did not.

McClanahan's bid on the project was $163,350.

Construction of the 36 by 78-foot township hall and accompanying 30 by 50-foot utility building is being financed by a $181,000 federal public works grant.

Township officials said construction of the township hall just off CR-697 south of the city limits will begin about Dec. 1.

The township board also set a special meeting for 7:30 p.m., Dec. 5, to meet with the Hartford City Council to go over a budget for the fire and ambulance services that are funded by both the city and the township.

Slain Lawyer Could Finger Hoffa Killers, Time Says

NEW YORK (AP) — Gino Gallina, the lawyer murdered gangland-style on Nov. 5, had told federal officials that he could identify the killers of Teamsters Union boss Jimmy Hoffa, according to Time magazine.

Testifying before a Newark grand jury shortly before his death, Gallina said he had hidden a tape recording that included the killers' voices discussing the murder, and that Hoffa's body could be found from information on the tape, the magazine says in this week's edition. It said the recording has not been found.

Hoffa disappeared two years ago. Time said he was presumed to have been killed for interfering with deals developed with the Teamsters by the Genovese crime family since 1967.

Time also said testimony by Gallina, a former Manhattan assistant district attorney who has represented organized crime figures in recent years, focused also on the "22-caliber killers," what some authorities suspect may be a mobsters' squad armed with .22-caliber pistols. At least 20 victims, including potential witnesses and six FBI informants, may have been victims of the squad, Time said. Gallina was slain with .38-caliber bullets.

Gallina, 42, who as a mob lawyer defended members of the East Coast Genovese family, also gave testimony concerning reputed family leaders Vincent Cigante, John DeGilio, Salvatore Briguglio and Timmy Principe, according to Time.

It said federal officials blamed Gallina's murder on a leak from the grand jury, and that leaks from sealed court records and other government files have led to the other informants' deaths.

Gallina was shot seven times on a Greenwich Village street. He died 90 minutes later.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stocks Continue To Slide

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices declined again today following the market's downturn on Monday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials dropped 2.25 to 836.11 in the first half hour.

Losers took a slight lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Trading was fairly active. Analysts said the market's weak showing Monday after last week's rally had dampened investors' enthusiasm.

They also said traders seemed a bit discouraged by new weakness in the dollar against some key foreign currencies. Hopes had surged up last week that the dollar was stabilizing enough to encourage stepped up foreign investment in U.S. stocks.

Tandy Corp., the most active NYSE issue, slipped 1/4 to 31 1/2.

On Monday the Dow Jones industrial average, which had climbed 35.85 points last week for its best showing of the year, dropped back 7.33 to 838.36.

Declines outnumbered advances by about a 7-6 margin on the NYSE.

The NYSE's composite index lost .31 to 82.37.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index closed at 118.02, down .31.

Eau Claire Tables Teacher Shift Plan

EAU CLAIRE — The Eau Claire School Board Monday night tabled for more study a proposal to transfer some teachers and combine some class sections at both the elementary and middle school levels.

A declining enrollment and a less in anticipated state aid because of the decline is forcing the proposed shifts, school officials told some 80 parents and teachers attending the meeting.

"There will have to be transfers; there is no doubt about that," Mrs. Reva Murphy, the board president said this morning.

"The question is whether the transfers should be delayed until the end of the semester," Mrs. Murphy said. She added that the problem is complicated by a required rescheduling of classes.

U.S. Makes Huge Sale To Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has bought 601,600 metric tons of U.S. corn, the second largest reported grain sale to the Soviets within 24 hours, the Agriculture Department said today.

Officials said the corn was sold by private U.S. exporters for delivery by next Sept. 30, the end of the second year of a long-term agreement in which the Soviets are committed to annually buy a minimum of six million tons of wheat and corn combined.

The department announced Monday the sale of 100,000 tons of wheat to the Soviets, the first officially confirmed purchase of U.S. grain since a previous round of sales ended Sept. 19.

Counting today's corn purchase, the Soviets now have bought more than three million tons of grain for delivery in 1977-78, half of the minimum called for in the pact. The Soviet Union bought the minimum amount in the first year of the agreement which ended Sept. 30.

The United States has given the Soviets permission to buy up to 15 million tons of wheat and corn in 1977-78, and department officials say the full amount probably will be bought.

A metric ton is 2,205 pounds and is equal to 36.7 bushels of wheat or 38.4 bushels of corn.

Soviet grain purchases are expected to be much larger this year to help offset a reduced harvest, estimated at 194 million tons or 10 percent less than U.S. officials had forecast.

As is customary, the department did not identify the firms making the corn sale nor the prices involved.

Large harvests of wheat and corn have built the U.S. grain stockpile to its highest level since the early 1960s. The export sales are welcome news to farmers, who have seen grain prices tumble the past couple of years.

U.S. grain surpluses are expected to rise by the time new crops are ready next year, even if the Soviets buy the full 15 million tons permitted by the agreement.

Officials said the corn sale announced today was previously included in exports to "unknown destinations" in department records. The switch from the unknown category to the Soviet Union was reported late Monday to the department, a spokesman said.

PAUL BERGAN
Trustee resigns

EAU CLAIRE — The Eau Claire Village Council Monday night decided to seek legal advice on how to write an ordinance that will restrict construction in two subdivisions in the village.

Village officials had sought to adopt a resolution that would have banned all construction of multi-family homes in the O'Leary Hills and Pond-A-Rosa subdivisions.

But the village attorney, Jerry Johnson of Berrien Springs, advised them to write and adopt an ordinance that would limit the number and location of the homes.

In other action, the council accepted the resignation of Paul Bergan, a village council trustee since 1973.

Bergan, the Benton Harbor high school football coach and a teacher, said his resignation is immediate because of his "many other obligations."

The council also voted to hire Donald Hartman of Watervliet as a village patrolman under the federal CETA program. He replaces a patrolman who was fired in late September.

A 1977 Dodge was purchased for $4,587 from General Auto Sales of Benton Harbor. The purchase was made after the village had been unsuccessful in getting car bids the last three months. The car will become a police cruiser.

Village officials also said that

Suggestion Is Denied, Criticized

COLOMA — John LaRatta, owner of a wrecker service here, Monday night criticized a suggestion that wrecker services used by police here be studied for 30 days.

LaRatta said the city had no right to question a service's record. His comments were made during the city commission meeting.

William Weybright, former chairman of the police committee, denied making the suggestion as reported by this newspaper Oct. 27. The suggestion was reported in an account of a police committee hearing on police policy on calling wreckers.

Police Chief Kenneth Urnuth who was also at the committee hearing said today that Weybright did make the suggestion as reported.

'Full Employment' Bill Considerably Diluted

BY DAVID ESPO
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sponsors of "full employment" legislation, holding a fresh endorsement from President Carter, are hoping for swift congressional action on a diluted bill that sets a goal of cutting unemployment to 4 percent by 1983.

The measure, a trimmed-back version of a bill that was an issue in last year's presidential campaign, creates no new federal jobs programs to meet the unemployment target.

It also does not require the administration to take specific steps to meet the goal.

A House labor subcommittee plans to begin hearings either later this year or early in 1978 on the bill, a spokesman said. An aide to one congressional leader said sponsors "foresee" the bill passing in 1978.

The two sponsors of the original bill, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and Rep. Augustus Hawkins, D-Calif., issued a joint statement predicting favorable congressional action.

"This legislation is of great importance to every American," they said. "We are grateful to the president and his advisers for the priority assigned to developing an agreement and for the cooperative manner in which the discussions were carried out."

AFL-CIO President George Meany called Carter's declaration of support Monday "a commitment to full employment that we welcome." But he added that "a goal, without follow-up action, would be meaningless."

But the chief U.S. Chamber of Commerce economist said the president was recommending a policy "that will add to inflation and the size of the federal government." Jack Carlson said the bill's goals are "unattainable without causing double-digit inflation."

Carter conceded that the 1983 goal of cutting joblessness to 4 percent overall and 3 percent for adults may be very tough to meet. "But setting our sights high challenges us to do our very best," he said in a statement.

Unemployment has been running at 7 percent of the total work force but has been much higher for young workers, including black youths.

Earlier versions of the bill called for reducing unemployment to 3 percent within four years — one year less than the revised bill allows.

BLOOMINGDALE SCHOOL MERC Rules For Rehired Secretaries

BLOOMINGDALE — The Michigan Employment Relations Commission has ordered that three Bloomingdale school secretaries who were fired from their jobs in 1975 and then rehired, be given credit for 14 sick days while they were unemployed.

The commission also ordered that two of the women, Flora Patrick and Ann Martin, be paid 20 cents per hour based on a 40-hour week from July 1, 1975 to July 1, 1976, to compensate them for a raise they should have received but did not.

Mrs. Patrick, Mrs. Martin, and Margaret Matthews were fired from their jobs by the school board in February, 1975 for what the women claimed was an attempt to join the Service Employees International Union. The MERC subsequently ordered them rehired with full back pay, ruling that the firings came about because of their attempts to join the union.

Earlier this year, the women filed another complaint with the MERC, claiming the school board had failed to comply with all the provisions of the reinstatement order. The newest order by the MERC implements the recommendations of Joseph Bader, an administrative law judge who heard the compliance complaint during a hearing in Paw Paw last April.

Bader found that Mrs. Patrick and Mrs. Martin were entitled to the 20 cent per hour pay raises, plus six percent interest, that they did not get while they were unemployed, according to James Shelton, a union representative.

The judge also found, Shelton said, that Mrs. Matthews should be credited with three days unused vacation pay she had not taken prior to 1975.

Bader rejected, however, Mrs. Patrick's claim that a job of secretary at the middle school she was given after being reinstated was not comparable to her former job as the superintendent's secretary. He said that because a new superintendent had been hired, he had the right to select his own secretary.

Bader also turned down the women's request that they be given three weeks vacation pay for the time they were unemployed, ruling that the reinstatement order had already given them a full 52 weeks pay. He also found that they were not entitled to have the board pay for insurance

Judge Orders Man To Repay Firm $6,000

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A former Bangor man was ordered Monday in Van Buren Circuit Court here to make restitution of $6,000 that he had allegedly embezzled from his employer in 1975. Judge Meyer Warshawsky also ordered that Jerry Ulrich, 27, of Grand Rapids, serve 55 days in jail, be placed on probation for two years, and pay fine and court costs of $150.

Ulrich had pleaded guilty earlier to a charge of attempted larceny by conversion over $100, in connection with a complaint filed by Michigan Slip, Inc., Bangor, where he was office manager in 1975.

Prosecutor Ward (Steve) Hamilton, Jr., said Ulrich allegedly used an unauthorized account in the company's name at the West Michigan Savings Bank in Bangor to draw money for checks he wrote for his own benefit.

Hamilton said the company claims the total loss was $16,482, including allegedly unnecessary purchases and payment for overtime for employees for which Ulrich wrote checks. Hamilton said he agreed on the $6,000 figure with Ulrich's attorney because it represented the amount Ulrich had used for his own personal benefit.

Also sentenced yesterday as a result of earlier guilty pleas to charges were: Bardoliano C. Bustos, 27, Houston, Tex., six months in jail, with 86 days credit for time already served, on a charge of assault with intent to commit second degree criminal sexual conduct (rape).

The charge grew out of a complaint by a 28-year-old Benton Heights woman that she was forced into a car outside a bar in Benton Harbor on Aug. 7, 1976, and driven to a spot near Hartwood where she was raped.

Ray Chester Wilson, 23, Kalamazoo, 16 months to 2 1/2 years in prison, with 100 days credit, on a charge of concealing stolen property, a camera and radio stolen from a truck in Paw Paw on Sept. 27, 1976.

Harry A. Baldwin, 66, 24th Avenue, Gobles, nine months in jail on a charge of attempted second degree criminal sexual conduct (indecent liberties) involving a seven-year-old girl on June 24.

In arraignments, Margie Lee Bridges, 45, 413 Cable St., South Haven, pleaded guilty to a charge of felonious assault against William Wade with a knife in South Haven on Jan. 9, 1976.

Ricky A. Kirby, 19, 416 E. Michigan Ave., Paw Paw, pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted larceny in a building, gasoline from a garage near Paw Paw on July 27.

Billy Joe Sirrine, 18, Mattawan, pleaded innocent in a charge of larceny over $100, tools from a home near Mattawan on Sept. 13.

Charles Stripling, 18, Conway, Ark., pleaded innocent to a charge of uttering and publishing a forged check for $150 in Lawton on Sept. 20.

Robin Kay West, 20, Detroit, pleaded innocent to a charge of receiving stolen property, a car reported stolen in River Rouge on Oct. 19. She was taken into custody following an accident on Interstate 94 in Antwerp Township.

Break-In Reported

Benton Township police reported a man was arrested early today outside Point O'Woods Golf and Country Clubhouse when officers responded to an alarm and found a screen covering an open kitchen window had been pushed in.

Patrolman Roger Spencer said Gerald C. Damsky, 27, no permanent address listed, was booked at Berrien County Jail for investigation of a charge of breaking and entering.

Spencer said police were dispatched to the country club, located off Roslin Road, at 12:30 a.m. Spencer said nothing appeared missing from the clubhouse.

Berrien sheriff's officers reported Monday batteries were stolen from pickup trucks owned by John Timmreck, of Route 1, Berrien Township, and Mitchell Williams, of Towhine Road, Sodus Township, while the trucks were parked at the owners' homes.

Timmreck also reported a chain saw and a hydraulic jack valued at a total of $85 stolen, deputies said.

Benton Township police reported Mrs. Frank Slosson, of 407 E. Napier, told Ave. them a trailer hitch valued at $80 was taken from her pickup truck sometime since Oct. 12.

DOUBLE WOE: Even after accident, it's difficult to tell identical twins apart. Cindy, top, and Wendy Cio fell from pony they were riding double, and each suffered broken left arm. Doctors said X-rays show that even breaks are nearly identical. Five-year-olds are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cio of Clinton, Ohio. (AP Laserphoto)

Dog Bites Brother And Sister

A brother and sister bitten by the same dog Monday afternoon were reported treated at Memorial Hospital and released.

Berrien Sheriff's Sgt. Robert Greer said Theresa Mann, 5, and John Mann, 12, of Route 1, Hollywood Road, Royalton Township, were bitten at 3:15 p.m. Monday by a German Shepherd reported owned by a neighbor.

Greer said John was bitten on the left hand and Theresa suffered a wound on her right cheek.

The children were reported in the yard of the Hazel Bitters residence on Hollywood Road, when the dog owned by another neighbor bit them, according to Greer.

Greer said the owner of the animal and the dog warden would be contacted.

Hagar Man Says Horse Was Shot

George Parrish, of 3723 US-43 North, Hagar Township, reported to Berrien sheriff's officers Monday a horse he owns had been wounded by a gunshot.

Deputy Van Clark reported Parrish told him a 5-year-old Palomino sustained a wound on its upper right front leg between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. Monday. Parrish said the horse was on his property inside a fence.

Lark said it appeared the wound was caused by a slug fired from a shotgun but it was not known who fired the shot. Parrish told Clark he would take the horse to a veterinarian for treatment.

M-42 Extension
Berrien County PUBLIC MEETING
The Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation will have representatives present at a public meeting from 4-8 P.M. Tuesday, November 22, 1977, in the Cafeteria of the Eau Claire High School, Hochberger Road, Eau Claire, Michigan.

The purpose of this meeting is to provide the opportunity for the public to drop in and discuss future improvement to M-62 from M-140 (Bailey Road) westerly to the proposed relocated US-31 in Berrien County.

It is the intent of the Department not only to invite, but also to encourage citizen involvement and participation in the M-42 extension study. It must be stressed that this is not a public hearing of the recommended highway improvements, as there have been none selected. The purpose of the meeting is to gain input, at the earliest stage of the study, from local residents and to stimulate communication and cooperation. Because a formal presentation will not be given, please feel free to stop in anytime between 4 - 8 P.M.

Brochures will be available at the meeting. Additional information may be obtained by contacting: Jack E. Morgan, Manager, Public Involvement Section, Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation, P.O. Box 30050, Lansing, Michigan 48909 or Ronald J. Roberts, Engineer, Route Location Division, Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation, P.O. Box 30050

Lansing, Michigan 48909
In addition, information on this project or any Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation planning project may be obtained by calling toll-free 1-800-292-0376, Oct. 21, Nov. 15, 1977 H.P. Adv.

Paw Paw Out Of Big Power Plant Combine

Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — The Paw Paw Village Council Monday night voted to withdraw from a group of seven communities that is considering building their own electric power plant.

Village officials have previously said the plant, which would be built near Tekonsha is expected to cost about $80 million. Tekonsha is located south of Battle Creek.

Clerk Charles Cusumano said this morning that the Paw Paw share of the project would have been about $7 million and that the council was reluctant to get into a bonding program of that size.

Included in the group, known as the South Central Michigan Power Supply group, besides Paw Paw, are Niles, Marshall, Coldwater, Hillsdale, Union City and Portland.

In other areas, the council approved two building permits. One was granted to Lloyd Sharp for a six-bay car wash at 701 W. Michigan Ave. expected to cost $30,000. The other went to Howard Garland, for a 42 by 72 warehouse and packing plant addition to his honey-making operation at 1022 E. Michigan Ave. Cost was estimated at $17,874.

The council also announced it will meet with the Downtown Merchants Association at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the Paw Paw Township Hall. They will discuss plans for new sidewalks in the area, according to the council.

Assault Charge Hearing Asked

Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — James D. Langdon, 31, (Osage), was released on his own recognizance Monday following Seventh District Court arraignment on a charge of assaulting a police officer. He demanded a preliminary examination on the charge, which was set for Nov. 22. Langdon is accused of assaulting Trooper William Sommerville of the Paw Paw post Sunday. Sommerville had come to investigate a complaint of a man creating a disturbance at the home of Langdon's father-in-law in Bloomhillsdale, police said. In other cases, Tim Terry, 20, and Lucie Pachner, 20, both of Paw Paw, demanded preliminary examination on charges of breaking and entering a motor vehicle. They were released on their own recognizance pending a hearing Nov. 28. The charge stems from the theft of about $300 worth of radios, tire extinguishers, and other equipment from Paw Paw school buses on Oct. 31, according to Paw Paw police.

AT DECATUR

Accord Is Reached In Teacher Talks

DECATUR — The Decatur School Board Monday night approved a tentative agreement with the Decatur Education Association on a master teaching contract.

Ratification of the contract is expected to come at the board's Nov. 28 meeting following a drafting of final contract language, with the DEA negotiating team. A budget hearing will be held at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 28.

Terms of the contract were not released pending final ratification by both sides.

Decatur teachers had been picketing at all three schools buildings here before and after school in protest of the lack of a settlement. The teachers had been working without a new contract.

In other areas, the board approved keeping rates for tuition students at $10 per year for elementary students and $90 for secondary students.

The board also approved hiring an aide for the special education room at the elementary school.

Dale Schreuder, transportation director, noted that 39 students from Decatur attend the Van Buren Skills Center, Lawrence, in the morning and 33 in the afternoon. He also noted that 89 Decatur students are transported 423 miles daily to and from schools.

The board approved Schreuder's request for the purchase of a two-way radio at a cost of $435 for use by the bus mechanic.

Richard Jacobsen, elementary principal, discussed immunization records of students and requested that the board grant the administration permission to suspend students after Dec. 15 unless immunization is in the process and emergency cards are signed at the school office.

Harold Groendyk, high school principal, stated the senior class has been informed of the possibility of a senior trip, but has shown no interest in it.

The board paid tribute to Mr. Willis Vleck, former school employee, who died of an apparent heart attack at the athletic field, Nov. 7.

Abercrombie - Fitch Folding Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Abercrombie & Fitch, the sporting goods emporium that outfitted Teddy Roosevelt for his charge up San Juan Hill and Adm. Robert E. Byrd for his antarctic expedition, is about to fold its tents.

The store, known for its distinctive name and high prices, lost a last-ditch effort to stave off bankruptcy. Advertisements in Sunday papers announced that the 55-year-old store will close its main store at 45th Street and Madison Avenue here for three days and then open Thursday for a going-out-of-business sale.

The store's owners had fought for 15 months to reorganize under federal bankruptcy statutes. The firm has failed — so far — to find a buyer for the nine-store chain, and creditors have rejected all repayment plans, it was reported.

The store was opened in the late 18th Century by David T. Abercrombie, a one-time prospector, railroad engineer and inventor. Ezra H. Fitch, a lawyer-sportsman who patronized the store on South Street in Manhattan, became Abercrombie's partner. Fitch took full control of the business in 1912, and moved the store to its present location in 1917.

Through the years, A&F's reputation for exotic sporting goods grew. The store sold two pairs of cashmere hunting underwear to Chief Justice Earl Warren; fishing tackle to President Herbert Hoover, and equipment to Charles A. Lindbergh for his trans-Atlantic flight.

Harry G. Haskell, former mayor of Wilmington, Del., and the store's major stockholder, said he expects the Abercrombie & Fitch name will find a home elsewhere.

"I can't believe that the name won't continue in one form or another," he said.

The store's branches in Palm Beach, Fla.; Short Hills, N.J.; Oak Brook, Ill.; Troy, Mich., and Colorado Springs, Colo., shut down earlier this month. The other three are in Chicago, San Francisco and Bal Harbour, Fla.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 15, the 319th day of 1977. There are 46 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1777, the Articles of Confederation were approved by the American Continental Congress. The document was the law of the land until the Constitution went into effect.

On this date: In 1492, Christopher Columbus noted in his journal the use of tobacco among the Indians. It was the first recorded reference to tobacco.

In 1891, Pike's Peak in Colorado was discovered by the explorer, Zebulon Pike.

In 1931, Manuel Quezon was inaugurated as the first president of the Philippine Commonwealth.

In 1961, a quarter of a million protesters against the Vietnam War staged a peaceful demonstration in Washington.

Ten years ago: The United States agreed to begin talks with Japan to arrange for the early return of some of the Pacific Islands captured by American forces in World War II.

Five years ago: Cuba and the United States expressed a desire to negotiate an agreement to curb the hijacking of airliners.

Today's birthdays: Diplomat Averell Harriman is 85 years old. Singer Petula Clark is 48.

Thought for today: The reckless driver often expires before his license does — Anonymous.
